2 Suspects Held Following Robbery At Local Store

Quick action by Circleville and Pickaway County law enforcement officials has resulted in the apprehension of two men allegedly involved in Monday evening's armed robbery at Gourmet Corner, N. Court St. and Wilson Ave.

Hoffa Faces Worst Fight Of His Career

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa is in the toughest spot of his troubled nine-year reign over the giant Teamsters Union after the Supreme Court rejected appeal of his jury-tampering conviction.

But "he took it philosophically" and immediately started laying plans to continue his battle to stay out of prison, a close associate said of Hoffa's reaction to Monday's court decision.

The Teamsters president was sentenced to eight years after his 1964 conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Hoffa, re-elected last July to a five-year term as chief of the 1.7-million-member union, has no intention of giving up without a fight to the last, informed sources within the union said.

Hoffa's lawyers could save off execution of the sentence for months, these sources said.

"He has three shots at it," said one source — "a rehearing (before the Supreme Court), a stay of execution and a writ of habeas corpus to show why he should not be detained."

Hoffa's attorneys hope to come up with new evidence that could upset the conviction, it was indicated.

However, neither Hoffa nor other union officials would comment officially.

Two Local Men Will Be Ordained At Ceremony Saturday in Vatican

By RICHARD DAVIS

Two Circleville area men will be ordained priests of the Roman Catholic Church in Rome on Saturday.

Receiving the Holy Orders will be the Rev. Father Paul M. Goode son of Mrs. William Goode and the late Mr. W. J. Goode of Route 4 and Galen Schelb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron J. Schelb, Route 2.

The ancient rites of ordination will be conferred on the two Pickaway Countians in St. Peter's Basilica adjacent to the Vatican Palace in Rome. The focal point of religious ceremony for centuries, the church is the largest in the world and was constructed in the 1500s largely according to plans of Michelangelo.

Families of the two clergymen will board a chartered jet on Wednesday in New York destined for Rome to attend the ritualistic ceremonies. The local contingent will join some 600 Americans who will make the trip to spend the holidays in Europe for the ordination event.

REV. SCHELB'S visitors will include his parents and 14 other Ohio relatives including his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Stan Dickman of Genoa, O. A friend, Mrs. Helen Williams of Sabina, who trained the young priest for his pilot's license is also making the trip to Rome with the family.

Taking the transoceanic trip to see the Rev. Goode ordained Sheriff Dwight Radcliff during the night. The robbery reportedly occurred at 7:30.

A third man believed involved has not yet been arrested. Identification of the third suspect is being withheld pending apprehension.

According to information provided lawmen, approximately $600 was taken. This included about $550 removed from the cash register and $140 from a clerk's billfold.

Officers said two young men walked into Gourmet Corner shortly before 7:30 p. m. Monday. One of them stuck a gun in the back of Gilbert Grooms, a clerk.

HE DEMANDED Grooms' billfold and ordered him to open the cash register, officers were told.

Grooms said he was told to lie face down on the floor by the gunman, who proceeded to empty the cash register of bills.

The two then fled to a waiting car. As they left the store, they bumped into Paul Schilling of 506 Springhollow Road who was coming in the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Schilling saw the getaway car head north on Court St.

As soon as city police notified the Sheriff's Department of the robbery, three cars were dispatched.

U.S. Welcomes European Aid in Vietnam—Rusk

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the U.S. government would welcome troops in Vietnam from its European allies. He is not likely to be offered any.

Arriving for the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's Ministerial Council which opens Wednesday, Rusk was asked by a newsman if European manpower is needed in the war in Southeast Asia.

"Of course," he replied, "we'd be glad to see help from any quarter, of any sort, in Vietnam. It is important that that matter be wound up promptly and on a basis that is satisfactory to the security of the Vietnamese people and of the free world. Help from all quarters would be welcomed."

However, other NATO members have shown no inclination to swell the fighting forces in Vietnam.

Report Due In Cincinnati Murder Probe

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police indicated a statement might be issued sometime today in the case of Postal Lasky, who has been charged with several minor offenses and is being questioned about a series of murders.

It had been understood there would be a 10 a. m. news conference on the case, but Col. Jacob Schott, chief of detectives, said such a meeting would not be held. He said, however, news media would be notified when a statement was ready. There were indications it might come later in the day.

Lasky, 29, a laborer and former cab driver, has not been charged with any of the murders. He has denied knowing anything about them.

The murders are the stabbing of Barbara Bowman, 31, and the strangling of six elderly women. The stranglings started Dec. 2, 1965, and have made Cincinnati a city of fear.

All the strangling victims were more than 50 years old. Five had been raped.

Lasky was arrested Friday, shortly after Lula Kerrick, 81, was found strangled in the elevator of her apartment house two blocks from police headquarters.

The arrest was not directly concerned with the slaying. Police picked up Lasky on the complaint of a woman who lived near Miss Kerrick and said a man had chased her into her home. A neighbor noted the license number of the man's car.

State Doubts Cong Wants Longer Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials believe the Viet Cong are unwilling to accept Pope Paul's appeal to extend the Christmas truce in the war in Vietnam into a peace-seeking cease-fire.

"We regret that the Viet Cong have apparently rejected the sincere appeal of Pope Paul in the cause of peace," the department said in a statement issued Monday. "The Viet Cong response obviously lessens very greatly the prospects for any positive results."

The department's conclusions were drawn after a Viet Cong broadcast Saturday accused the United States of "Machiavellian and perfidious" schemes in pressing "the sinful aggression" in Vietnam.

Funds Sought for Busing Of Non-Public Students

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board will be asked Wednesday to provide early payment of nearly $2 million for school districts feeling the pinch of having to bus 129,456 private and parochial school pupils.

The State Board of Education voted to ask for the funds at its regular monthly meeting Monday after being told that the "Fair Bus Bill," under which the students are being transported, is crating a hardship on many districts.

Martin Essex, state superintendent of public instruction, said the law, which went into effect this year, provides payment of extra costs incurred in the busing, but not until after the actual costs are computed at the end of the school year.

Essex said many districts can not afford the extra costs and "need their funds to provide the normal instructional services."

Much of the meeting was taken up with discussion of the completed "master plan" for Ohio education, calling for reorganization of the state's 712 school districts on a basis of student populations and not with county or community boundaries.

A motion to adopt a report on the plan, and submit it to the 1967 Legislature for action was tabled, meaning the plan will come up for discussion at the January meeting, despite a Jan. 1 deadline for submission.

The vote to table came after board member Elliott Myers of Ironton said he was sure the plan could be submitted after the deadline.

In other action, the board: —Created a new city school district comprising the former Nelsonville and York Local districts in Athens County.

Dissolved the Mound-builders Joint Vocational School District in the Newark area which failed to win voter approval Nov. 8.

—Revoked the teachers certificate of Thomas H. Stubbs of Athens, convicted for petty larceny and breaking and entering.

Bomber Falls In Kentucky

HUSTONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An Air Force B38 bomber, "making a screaming and popping sound," crashed with three men aboard Monday night on a farm near Stanford, Ky., the Air Force said.

The information office at Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, Neb., said the plane had been on a routine low-level navigation and practice bombing mission.

A spokesman for the Air Force in Washington said the plane was unarmed.

The Rev. Russell Singleton, pastor of the McKinney Baptist Church, said he heard the craft pass "very low" over his house, "making a screaming and popping sound."

Singleton said he saw the plane crash into the side of a hill and that "the entire hillside was on fire."

The pastor said he saw the body of the pilot descending, his parachute partially opened. Singleton said the body was afire and that he, and some neighbors extinguished the flames.

The craft was with the 305th Bomber Wing at Bunker Hill Air Force Base, Ind.

Records show that crewmembers of the aircraft at the time of departure from Bunker were: Aircraft commander Maj. Richard Franklin Blakeslee, 42, of Mentor-on-the-Lake, Ohio; Capt. Floyd Edward Acker, 33, of Dixon, Ill. and Capt. Clarence Dale Lunt, 29, of Williamsport, Pa.

Blakeslee, chief medical examiner of New York City, and a gray-haired veteran of 20,000 autopsies, said under cross-examination Monday:

—The alleged victim, retired Army Lt. Col. William E. Farber, died of a twice-fractured larynx at the hands of a human assailant.

—Farber's heart apparently was normal at the time of his 1963 death at the age of 50. Coronary thrombosis had been listed as the cause of death.

—It was highly unlikely that the fracture could have been caused by rough handling when Farber's body was exhumed last summer from Arlington National Cemetery or by a damaged coffin.

Coppolino, 34, an anesthesiologist and hypnotist, is on trial for his life on a first-degree murder charge in Farber's death. They were neighbors in the fashionable Fox Run section of Middletown Township along New Jersey's resort coast.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Communist China's militant Red Guards denounced former Peking Mayor Peng Chen and other purged officials at closed meetings Monday in the Chinese capital and marched through the streets into the night chanting revolutionary slogans, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported today from Peking.

The Tanjug correspondent said the Red Guards at the meetings "unmasked the reactionary bourgeoisie" of Peng, and minister of culture; Lo Juching, chief of the general staff, and other leaders disgraced in the current purge.

The Red Guards' paper, Red Flag, in an editorial today said the bourgeoisie line was followed by only "a small group of people in power." It charged them with responsibility for opposition to Red Guards activities.

General Military Spending Up

Soviet Trims Space Outlay

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW, (AP) — The Soviet Union has cut by one-third its spending this year on nonmilitary space research while increasing general military spending, Communist and Western sources said today.

Despite the space cut, which has kept Soviet cosmonauts grounded for 21 months, the Soviet Union is likely to launch two or three unmanned spacecraft to Mars next month, the informants said.

The reports could not be confirmed because of tight secrecy here around both military expenditures and space plans. Some Western diplomats cast doubt on the report of a one-third cut for space research.

This cut in an undisclosed original sum was ordered early this year, the sources said.

The reason they gave was a strain on the economy caused by too many demands for limited resources. Heavy industry continues to receive the traditional high priority of the Communist regime, consumers have been promised more, and the armed forces are being modernized and strengthened.

The strain continues and it appears to be a major reason that the five-year economic plan, which should have gone into effect last Jan. 1, is still not ready. A stopgap plan for 1966 was used and another is ready for 1967.

The reported cut in space research does not rule out a manned launching next year. In fact, the sources said something spectacular has been ordered as part of activities building up to the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution next Nov. 7.

Spain Gets Set for Referendum

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Spanish government maintained a firm grip today on opposition efforts to impede a massive vote in the national referendum Wednesday on constitutional changes proposed by Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

In Barcelona, one of Spain's largest economic and industrial centers, police broke up a news conference called by opposition leaders to explain why they were urging abstention at the polls.

More than 19 million men and women are eligible to vote in the referendum, and most observers consider the result a certainty.

In a television address Monday night, Franco reminded his people he had served them for 30 years and appealed to them to vote "yes." His constitutional proposals will broaden popular representation and provide for a king or royal regent to succeed him. The amendments also will permit public religious services for faithful other than the state-supported Roman Catholic.

American Ties Also Affirmed As Essential

BONN, Germany (AP) —

Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger today based his new West German government firmly on the proposition that its relations with President Charles de Gaulle and France will determine the future of Europe.

"The facts of European geography," Kiesinger said in his first major policy statement, "and the balance of history show that under present conditions there is a high measure of agreement in the interests of our two peoples and countries."

He added that "together with France the oldest ally of America, we consider indispensable a solid alliance between the free European nations in the process of unification and the United States of America, in whatever form the structure of this alliance will take in view of a changed world."

The new chancellor said strengthening and development of the Atlantic alliance "is an important matter to us" and his government "will forget none of the great help which the United States has given us in the past two decades."

But he did not say what he would do about American and British demands that West Germany buy more of their goods to compensate for what they lose in gold and foreign exchange by stationing troops in West Germany.

Charles S. (Sam) Lopeman, 29, Columbus, chief counsel effective at once. Lopeman, an administrative assistant, succeeded Fred G. Reimers who returned to Cincinnati as chief of the attorney general's highway section there.

Walter J. Hodyshell, 40, New Lexington, to succeed Colasurd, effective Jan. 3. Hodyshell has been assistant head of the workmen's compensation section.

The chief counsel and first assistant posts pay $18,000 a year. The workmen's compensation section chief receives $13,000 annually.

Winter Storm Hits Eastern Mountain Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A growing storm lashed the East and Southeast with snow, sleet, freezing rain and gale-force winds today.

Two inches of snow fell in the early morning at Bluefield, W. Va., and Roanoke, Va. The Weather Bureau's hazardous-driving warnings said this mountainous area may get several inches by tonight.

The warnings prompted by snow or freezing rain also covered Delaware, Maryland and parts of North Carolina, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

Gale warnings were in effect along the Atlantic Coast from Charleston, S.C., to the Virginia Capes, where winds already were 35 to 45 knots.

Funds Sought for Busing Of Non-Public Students

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board will be asked Wednesday to provide early payment of nearly $2 million for school districts feeling the pinch of having to bus 129,456 private and parochial school pupils.

The State Board of Education voted to ask for the funds at its regular monthly meeting Monday after being told that the "Fair Bus Bill," under which the students are being transported, is crating a hardship on many districts.

Martin Essex, state superintendent of public instruction, said the law, which went into effect this year, provides payment of extra costs incurred in the busing, but not until after the actual costs are computed at the end of the school year.

Essex said many districts cannot afford the extra costs and "need their funds to provide the normal instructional services."

Much of the meeting was taken up with discussion of the completed "master plan" for Ohio education, calling for reorganization of the state's 712 school districts on a basis of student populations and not with county- or community boundaries.

A motion to adopt a report on the plan, and submit it to the 1967 Legislature for action was tabled, meaning the plan will come up for discussion at the January meeting, despite a Jan. 1 deadline for submission.

"The facts of European geography," Kiesinger said in his first major policy statement, "and the balance of history show that under present conditions there is a high measure of agreement in the interests of our two peoples and countries."

He added that "together with France the oldest ally of America, we consider indispensable a solid alliance between the free European nations in the process of unification and the United States of America, in whatever form the structure of this alliance will take in view of a changed world."

The new chancellor said strengthening and development of the Atlantic alliance "is an important matter to us" and his government "will forget none of the great help which the United States has given us in the past two decades."

But he did not say what he would do about American and British demands that West Germany buy more of their goods to compensate for what they lose in gold and foreign exchange by stationing troops in West Germany.

The chief counsel and first assistant posts pay $18,000 a year. The workmen's compensation section chief receives $13,000 annually.

Winter Storm Hits Eastern Mountain Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A growing storm lashed the East and Southeast with snow, sleet, freezing rain and gale-force winds today.

Two inches of snow fell in the early morning at Bluefield, W. Va., and Roanoke, Va. The Weather Bureau's hazardous-driving warnings said this mountainous area may get several inches by nightfall.

The warnings prompted by snow or freezing rain also covered Delaware, Maryland and parts of North Carolina, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

Gale warnings were in effect along the Atlantic Coast from Charleston, S.C., to the Virginia Capes, where winds already were 35 to 45 knots.

Driver Backs One Block, Pays $15 Fine in Court

A Michigan motorist cited by Circleville Police Officer Arthur Finley for improper backing, waived a court hearing and paid a fine of $15 and costs Monday in Circleville Municipal Court.

A. L. McHugh, 63, of Detroit, backed from 143 E. Main St. to 125 W. Main St., a distance of nearly one city block, Finley said.

"I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw this man back through a red light at Court and Main St."

"He nearly hit the Santa Claus House and other cars had to go way left of center to keep from hitting him."

The incident occurred at about 3 a. m. Saturday. Finley said traffic was fairly heavy at the time.

Most of motorists listed on today's court docket were cited for speeding.

Forfeiting $19 bonds posted for exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles per hour were:

William H. Harrington, 33, Rt. 1; Hayden Goodman, 30, Marion; Joseph Reynolds, Otway; C. A. Barthelmas, 19, Lakewood; Gary Adkins, 30, Columbus; Clarence Ousley Jr., 24, Dundas; John Gulas Jr., 52, Mansfield; Stanley Hoskin, 43, Ashland, Ky.; William R. Grayson, 26, Columbus; John Connick, 33, Detroit; Harry Runyon, 30, Columbus; Anton Pecko, 25, Columbus; Lavina Kellenberger, 26, Chillicothe; Peter Marritt, 27, Worthington.

Forfeiting $24 bonds posted for exceeding the speed limit by 15 miles per hour were:

Carolyn Collins, 20, Columbus; Samuel Cool, 32, Chillicothe; James Summers, 30, Chillicothe; Grady A. Kers, 54, Ashland, Ky.; Harold Shelton, Hillsboro; E. Paul M. Atter, Cheverly, Md.; William H. Muth, 28, Huntington, W. Va.

Motorists who were fined $15 and costs for speeding were:

Herman Brenthold, 43, Columbus; Charles Butts, 32, Columbus; Ruth Whitte, 47, Lorain; Joseph Presthus, 38, Delaware; Harold Moon, 40, Fostoria; T. A. Anderson, 32, 120 Seyfert Ave.; Donald McClean, 52, Aurora, Ill.; Ora Spradlin, 27, Columbus.

Other motorists on the completed court docket are:

Romeyia Prater, 28, Columbus; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 71 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Charles Speakman, 19, Kingston; Richard Parker, 22, Kingston; $10 and costs for exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles per hour.

Keith Bowman, 25, Oak Hill; $34 bond forfeiture for speeding 85 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Donald Brunton, 50, Columbus; $24 bond forfeiture for speeding 73 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Helen Jones, 37, Columbus; $60 bond forfeiture for speeding 61 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff stopped at a store in Ringgold where he was informed of three suspicious acting men. This led to the apprehension of the two in Lancaster.

BINKLEY, a parolee, was picked up by Sheriff Radcliff and a state parole officer before midnight. A "John Doe" warrant was filed against Randolph and he was arrested at about 2 a. m. today.

Sheriff Radcliff said approximately $180 of the money stolen has already been recovered.

He stated that he and Circleville Police Chief Robert Temple would confer with Prosecuting Attorney Robert Huffer before filing further legal action against the two men apprehended.

Handling the investigation for the city department were Chief, Temple and Sgt. Richard Anderson.

Randolph has been identified by Grooms as the man who held the revolver, Sheriff Radcliff said. Binkley is believed to have been the driver of the car. He supposedly did not go into the store.

Ike Showing Improvement After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has recovered enough from Monday's gallbladder operation to get out of bed this morning and sit in a chair for 25 minutes, his doctors reported.

Brig. Gen. Philip W. Mallory, commanding general of Walter Reed Army Hospital, told reporters shortly before noon.

"I have just come from Gen. Eisenhower's suite and I am very happy to report that he continues to make very satisfactory progress."

"He has been up (out of bed) this morning and sat up in a chair for 25 minutes. He is back in bed now and is responding to all this very normally and just the way we want it."

In response to a question on whether Eisenhower would be able to leave the hospital before Christmas, as he has expressed hope of doing, Mallory replied:

"We hope so but cannot say at this time."

"The general had a good night," Walter Reed Army Hospital reported this morning, one full day after the one and three-quarter hour operation.

The word on the five-star general's condition Monday night had been "quite satisfactory."

"Multiple large and small gallstones were in the gallbladder which was removed," said the bulletin issued shortly after 5 p. m. Monday. These were the stones which Eisenhower jokingly had referred to as "rocks."

The former first lady, Mamie, was staying near her husband in the executive suite at the hospital. The luxurious accommodations, otherwise known as the presidential suite, include bedrooms, a sitting room and a solarium.

Market Rally Holds Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed its rally into the sixth straight session but ran into increased profit-taking early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

General Motors, up about 1 1/2, continued to be one of the strongest pacemakers of the sustained advance as it showed further response to the prediction of its board chairman that 1967 would be the third-best auto sales year.

Other leading autos showed fractional gains and there was plenty of support from blue chips and glamor stocks throughout the list.

The rise attracted some short-term profit-taking, however, and the list sank well below its best level of early morning.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 300.0 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .4 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .45 at 820.99. This was well below an earlier reading of 822.93, at which level the Dow was well above its Nov. 16 recovery high.

Young Egyptian Eludes Captors

ROME (AP)—A young Egyptian physicist was reported today to have fought himself free from two of his country's diplomats he said tried to force him aboard a plane for Cairo.

The flight, United Arab Airlines 794, was the same one on which Egyptian diplomats tried to ship Mordechai Louk, an Israeli chaine d in a trunk, in a sensational spy case two years ago.

Marino la Mela, chief of the foreigners' division of the Rome police, said the physicist was Galal Shafy, 27, who arrived last Wednesday from Bonn, Germany, on his way to Tripoli, Lebanon.

La Mela said he ordered Shafy brought in for questioning about the alleged kidnapping attempt Monday night at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport, the same airfield where Louk was found in a trunk consigned to Cairo on Nov. 17, 1964.

Airport police gave this account of Shafy's experience:

On his arrival in Rome, he notified police that he had just finished his studies in physics at Bo, and was on his way to Tripoli where he had been offered a good job as a scientist.

He said that on his way to Rome he lost his passport. Police advised him to go to the United Arab Republic Embassy. Shafy said he was told at the embassy to come back Monday. He said when he did so, two embassy officials and a porter drove him to the airport and tried to force him aboard the plane for Cairo.

There was a ruckus and airport police were called. They said when they got there the plane was leaving and Shafy, coatless, came running to them and asked for protection, saying the diplomats tried to make him board the plane against his will.

He said he lost his coat struggling out of their grasp.

Shafy told the police the Egyptians tried to force him to return to Cairo to work as a physicist there.

While he was telling his story, police said, two men who said they were from the U.A.R. Embassy asked that he be turned over to them. The police refused.

In the Louk case, Italy expelled three members of the U.A.R. diplomatic staff and rejected a protest by the Egyptian ambassador over the handling of the case. Louk returned voluntarily to Israel, where he was sentenced to 13 years in prison for spying for Egypt.

A spokesman for the U.A.R. Embassy said the Shafy episode "was being too exaggerated."

State Stores May Drop Seagram Line

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Liquor Director Donald D. Cook says Ohio would not be able to stock Seagram's products next year unless the firm drops its price increase.

"We would add other brands of other companies equally good or better than Seagram's," Cook said Monday.

The Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Inc., is the biggest whiskey distributor in Ohio and accounts for 23 per cent of liquor business in the state, or about $60 million a year in sales through state stores.

Cook said the brands which would not appear next year, unless the dispute is settled, would be Seagram's Seven Crown, the volume leader in Ohio and the nation, VO, and some of the top sellers in such Seagram's divisions as Calvert, Four Roses and Frankfort Distillers.

Cook said Seagram's has enough stock to last through the Christmas season.

The price increase would amount to "about 45 cents a bottle" at the retail level on what Cook described as Seagram's best sellers.

PTA Book Drive Is Successful

The November book drive held by the PTA at Nicholas Drive School was very successful, according to Mrs. E. L. Lipert.

More than a third of the 324 books were collected by the second grade students whose efforts were recognized by a gift certificate awarded to their home room. A second gift certificate went to the sixth graders who donated 41 books and a three-volume set of Children's Digest.

The books received are now being processed by the library committee consisting of Mrs. R. Alkire, Mrs. J. Hughes, Mrs. D. Schiewetz, Mrs. E. Tatum and Mrs. H. Whitfield.

Anyone wishing to help or who has additional books to donate to the Nicholas Drive School central library should call Mrs. C. J. Heffelfinger at 474-4019 or Mrs. A. J. Porck at 474-6849, co-chairwomen of the library committee.

B52's Plaster Enemy Base Near Saigon

U.S. Bombardier's Error Kills Vietnamese Civilians

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—A U.S. warplane supporting a Marine drive dropped a bomb on a village 1,800 yards short of its intended target tonight and killed two Vietnamese civilians, an American spokesman announced. He said one civilian was injured.

The strike was made at the village of Thon-Phu Gia, 30 miles southwest of Hue. The mistaken bombing came roughly 80 miles from the border territory where two bombs that fell short from a supporting warplane killed 16 Marines and wounded 11 Saturday.

U.S. B52 Stratoforters unloaded a cascade of bombs on an enemy base camp close to Saigon and the Viet Cong retaliated with an outbreak of grenade throwing in and near the capital.

Although more than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed a search-and-destroy mission in the Mekong Delta 105 miles south of Saigon, ground fighting across the country dwindled and only light skirmishes were reported.

U.S. planes Monday had their busiest day over North Vietnam in weeks, flying 99 bombing missions or 300 to 350 individual strikes. This was still well below the average of 150 missions flown daily before the monsoon storms moved north.

In one of the missions two all-weather Navy Intruders from the carrier Kitty Hawk struck only five miles from Hoiphong, North Vietnam's main port. The jet bombers made radar precision runs on a missile assembly installation, and one of the pilots said the explosions "looked like flashbulbs in the night."

The B52 raid hammered at a Viet Cong base camp and storage area 30 miles north of Saigon, repeating raids last week in the same area aimed at knocking out the lairs from which the Viet Cong launch terror attacks against the capital.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Under American prodding, South Vietnam finally is undertaking a program to improve leadership in its armed forces. The action comes nearly six years after the United States embarked on a major advisory effort here.

For the first time, the Vietnamese command has installed a promotion system based on merit rather than political preference.

Some facets of the program are meeting resistance, sources said. Controversy swirls chiefly around measures designed to eliminate deadwood from the Vietnamese officer corps.

Ag Society Elects 3-Year Directors

Pickaway County Agricultural Society met Monday night to elect three-year term directors.

Twenty-seven ballots were cast in the annual election. Agriculture society officials expressed disappointment in the number of votes cast.

Two new directors were elected to the three-term posts. They are William Harlow Arledge, Circleville City, and Leroy Newlon of Jackson Twp.

Others re-elected were Glenn McCoy, Washington Twp.; Ralph McMill, Circleville Twp.; Mostyn Garrett, Darby Twp.; Robert Baum, Harrison Twp.; and Emerson Brown, Walnut Twp.

Anyone who purchases a membership pass to the Pickaway County Fair is eligible to vote for directors. Charles Rose, president, pointed out.

Officers to be elected at the board's annual meeting in January include those of president and vice president. Rose is currently serving in the president's chair while Richard Shaw is the vice president.

The office of secretary-treasurer an appointed post, is being held currently by Roger Bowers, Route 3.

Bond Sales Hit $50 Billion Mark

Kenneth Fosnaugh, Pickaway County chairman for the United States Savings Bonds program announced today that the total of Series E and H Bonds outstanding had passed the $50 billion mark for the first time.

He pointed out that since the beginning of the Savings Bond program on May 1, 1941, more than $150 billion of bonds have been sold. Of this total, about $100 billion have gone to make down payments on homes, educate children, supplement retirement income and cover multiple other needs.

The outstanding success of the program was cited by Fosnaugh as a tribute to all of the volunteers who have carried the program forward since its beginning.

He noted that each facet of the Savings Bond program, in payroll savings, bank sales, publicity and community activities, depends upon volunteer support.

Marino la Mela, chief of the foreigners' division of the Rome police, said the physicist was Galal Shafy, 27, who arrived last Wednesday from Bonn, Germany, on his way to Tripoli, Lebanon.

La Mela said he ordered Shafy brought in for questioning about the alleged kidnapping attempt Monday night at Rome's

Leonardo da Vinci Airport, the same airfield where Louk was found in a trunk consigned to Cairo on Nov. 17, 1964.

Airport police give this account of Shofy's experience:

On his arrival in Rome, he notified police that he had just finished his studies in physics at Bo, and was on his way to airport where he had been offered a good job as a scientist.

He said that on his way to Rome he lost his passport. Police advised him to go to the United Arab Republic Embassy. Shofy said he was told at the embassy to come back Monday. He said when he did so, two embassy officials and a porter drove him to the airport and tried to force him aboard the plane for Cairo.

There was a ruckus and airport police were called. They said when they got there the plane was leaving and Shofy, coatless, came running to them and asked for protection, saying the diplomats tried to make him board the plane against his will. He said he lost his coat struggling out of their grasp.

Shofy told the police the Egyptians tried to force him to return to Cairo to work as a physicist there.

While he was telling his story, police said, two men who said they were from the U.A.R. Embassy asked that he be turned over to them. The police refused.

In the Louk case, Italy expelled three members of the U.A.R. diplomatic staff and rejected a protest by the Egyptian ambassador over the handling of the case. Louk returned voluntarily to Israel, where he was sentenced to 13 years in prison for spying for Egypt.

A spokesman for the U.A.R. Embassy said the Shafy episode "was being too exaggerated."

B52's Plaster Enemy Base Near Saigon

U.S. Bombardier's Error Kills Vietnamese Civilians

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) —

A U.S. warplane supporting a Marine drive dropped a bomb on a village 1,800 yards short of its intended target tonight and killed two Vietnamese civilians, an American spokesman announced. He said one civilian was injured.

The strike was made at the village of Thon-Phu Gia, 30 miles southwest of Hue. The mistaken bombing came roughly 80 miles from the border territory where two bombs that fell short from a supporting warplane killed 16 Marines and wounded 11 Saturday.

U.S. B52 Stratoforts unloaded a cascade of bombs on an enemy base camp close to Saigon and the Viet Cong retaliated with an outbreak of grenade throwing in and near the capital.

Although more than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed a search-and-destroy mission in the Mekong Delta 195 miles south of Saigon, ground fighting across the country dwindled and only light skirmishes were reported.

U.S. planes Monday had their busiest day over North Vietnam in weeks, flying 99 bombing missions or 300 to 350 individual strikes. This was still well below the average of 150 missions flown daily before the monsoon storms moved north.

In one of the missions two all-weather Navy Intruders from the carrier Kitty Hawk struck only five miles from Hoiphong, North Vietnam's main port. The jet bombers made radar precision runs on a missile assembly installation, and one of the pilots said the explosions "looked like flashbulbs in the night."

The B52 raid hammered at a Viet Cong base camp and storage area 30 miles north of Saigon, repeating raids last week in the same area aimed at knocking out the lairs from which the Viet Cong launch terror attacks against the capital.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Under American prodding, South Vietnam finally is undertaking a program to improve leadership in its armed forces.

The action comes nearly six years after the United States embarked on a major advisory effort here.

For the first time, the Vietnamese command has installed a promotion system based on merit rather than political preference.

Some facets of the program are meeting resistance, sources said. Controversy swirls chiefly around measures designed to eliminate deadwood from the Vietnamese officer corps.

Ag Society Elects 3-Year Directors

Pickaway County Agricultural Society met Monday night to elect three-year term directors. Twenty-seven ballots were cast in the annual election. Agriculture society officials expressed disappointment in the number of votes cast.

Two new directors were elected to the three-term posts. They are William Harlow Arledge, Circleville City, and Leroy Newlon of Jackson Twp.

Others re-elected were Glenn McCoy, Washington Twp.; Ralph McMill, Circleville Twp.; Mostyn Garrett, Darby Twp.; Robert Baum, Harrison Twp.; and Emerson Brown, Walnut Twp.

Anyone who purchases a membership pass to the Pickaway County Fair is eligible to vote for directors. Charles Rose, president, pointed out.

Officers to be elected at the board's annual meeting in January include those of president and vice president. Rose is currently serving in the president's chair while Richard Shaw is the vice president.

The office of secretary-treasurer an appointed post, is being held currently by Roger Bowers. Route 3.

Can of Worms at U.N.

The future of the western world gets more and more doubtful every day because statesmen, so-called, think they have a commitment to follow "logical next steps."

One important "logical" issue as this column is being written is coming to a head at the UN, with the British Foreign Secretary, George Brown, in New York to present his country's case for sanctions against the breakaway African colony of Rhodesia. It doesn't matter much whether the sanctions are tough or timorous, for disaster lurks ahead from one quarter or another no matter what course is followed. If Britain with the United States as its pledged supporter, is forced to crack down on South Africa to prevent embargoed goods from going through to Rhodesia, it means an economic struggle to the death between the United Kingdom and its fourth largest customer. The British pound already in plenty of trouble, won't be able to take it, and the U.S. dollar, as the one remaining world "reserve currency," will be faced with something that could result in a 1929 situation. On the other hand, if economic sanctions against Rhodesia are merely lip-service stuff, the tropical African bloc at the UN will not sit quietly.

The battle is being billed in the UN as one between morality and the dollar sign. Morality says that one man should have one vote in Rhodesia, where the white minority currently rules over a majority of blacks. The tropical Africans, taking high moral ground, are quite oblivious to what might happen to the world outside of Africa if the British pound and the U.S. dollar both falter. And they don't really comprehend what might happen inside Africa. Always, in the past, the tropical Africans have been able to count on the pound and the dollar. The western money tree has never yet failed to be good for one more shaking, whether the need has been for medicine or foundation money to support wild animal preserves, or investment funds to open up copper mines. Knowing nothing of finance, the new tropical African finance ministers assume that men from the bush will find some way of making a living even if every South African port is closed by British and U. S. warships.

Yet this isn't the way things would work out. Blacks have moved into both Rhodesia and South Africa despite political discrimination and apartheid, for purely economic reasons. If abstract morality meant anything to these blacks, they would refuse to work for masters who are immorally committed against the "one man one vote" idea. But when it comes to advocating a work embargo against white business, the tropical Africans are mum.

Nothing is simple in this world, and the question whether it can really be moral to provoke a depression that will multiply misery and starvation among black people who need jobs to support themselves and their families is one of those conundrums that must forever baffle the schoolmen. So it is not surprising that the tropical African rulers don't follow through with their own thinking.

The question of "democracy" in Africa is itself up in the air. The tropical Africans at the UN want "one man, one vote" for Rhodesia. Yet many of the new African states are single-party affairs in which the slogan might be "one man, one vote, once." Many of the Africans have confused democracy with tribe and race; they aren't really against dictatorial rule provided the dictators are black.

The British request for UN sanctions against Rhodesia opens up still another gray world in which talk about morality is rooted in the worst sort of confusion. If it is moral to embargo the white Rhodesians because they want to slow down the rush to "one man, one vote," then, by the same token, it must be immoral for Canada, say, to pledge its future wheat crop to Red China's Mao Tse-tung. After all, Mao, who doesn't believe in "one man, one vote," presided over the collective death sentence of 20 million anti-Red Chinese in the revolution of the late Nineteen Forties, which was worse from a moral standpoint than anything the South Africans or Rhodesians have ever done.

The situation at the UN is a can of worms anyway you take it. Nobody there comes into court with clean hands. And there is no "moral" way of settling the issue. It will be resolved along the lines of propagandistic force.

Watching the Office Zoo

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas brings out the best and the worst in the occupants of the office zoo.

In almost every American business office between now and the first of the year some or all of these things are bound to occur:

Some wag will try to figure a way to put a fifth of gin in the water cooler.

The secretaries in each department will compete to see which can put up the prettiest small Christmas tree by her desk.

Some cheapskate will steal the string of lights off at least one tree to decorate his own tree at home.

If someone takes up a collection for the janitor, half the staff will say, "Why him—why not one for the office boy?"

If someone takes up a collection for the office boy, half the staff will say, "Why him—why not one for the janitor?"

If someone takes up a collection for both the office boy and the janitor, three out of four members of the staff will whine, "When are you going to take up a collection for me?"

The senior executives will give their secretaries gift certificates averaging $25 and get their annual reward—a dutiful peck on the cheek.

The junior executives will pass out stale boxes of cheap chocolates — and charming smiles. They'll get back from the girls grumpy looks of feigned gratitude.

Everybody will come to work later and later, and output will fall about 50 per cent.

The coffee breaks and luncheon periods will get longer and longer, as the employees try to do as much shopping as possible on company time.

From Dec. 15 on, only one out of three calls going through the office switchboard will have anything to do with the firm's business.

The homeliest girl in the place will sneak in a big sprig of mistletoe and furtively drop it on the desk of some bold fellow she's sure will hang it up.

Someone will be fired; someone will be hired.

One of the stenographers will come reeling in from an all-hen luncheon so loaded with daiquiris she'll have to spend the rest of the afternoon recuperating in the ladies' washroom.

The office top will be pickled most of the week before

Christmas, buttonholing passers-by in the locker room and weeping tears of 86 proof bourbon as he shows them pictures of his mother and exclaims, "She's the grandest girl that ever lived!"

At least 12 grim-faced wives will show up to collect their husband's check on payday so he won't be tempted to cash it himself on the way home.

If you say: "Have a Merry Christmas" to the office grouch, he'll snarl back, "Why should I — do I have to?"

In the general spirit of holiday cheer, half a dozen old office feuds will be healed—and half a dozen new feuds begun.

If the firm doesn't give a Christmas bonus, a third of the employees assure each other that come Jan. 1, they're going to look around for an organization that recognizes honest merit.

If the firm does give a Christmas bonus, two-thirds of the employees complain, "Santa Claus sure had arthritis of the hand this year, didn't he?"

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To the Editor:

An extreme effort has been made to inform everyone regarding the need for additional funds for the Circleville City Schools which will be decided today because of the importance of the results.

The various cutbacks have been studied and advertised and all citizens should be aware that a defeat of the levy will bring these about.

It has taken a long time, a lot of hard work, planning and cooperation to reach the level of education now offered in city schools.

Our school district operates with a minimum staff and cannot afford any cutbacks in personnel without seriously hampering the educational program. Each employee of the school district is asked to and is putting forth a 100 per cent effort and assignment.

The programs offered are good and meet state standards yet are free of frills. Any reduction in program will cause us to fall below state standards.

We have been cutting our appropriations each year below what they should be with the hope that additional funds would be forthcoming. Therefore, we cannot "tighten our belt" without losing programs.

ROBERT ELSEA

To the Editor:

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all who helped make this year's General Guild Bazaar a success.

The time and talents given by the guild homemakers who work diligently all year on bazaar items can be shown in the proceeds realized Dec. 2.

Special thanks go to the chairmen, Mrs. Richard Huggins, Mrs. Rusty Vaughn, Mrs. Bud Hritz, Mrs. Leonard Hoffman Jr. and their committees and Mrs. Howard Weaver and all who supported the Food Booth.

Appreciation also is in order for John Robinson, Stonerock's TV and Appliances and the Eagles Lodge for their services.

Recognition also is due Hospital Guilds 30 and 37 for selling the most "Money Tree" kets.

And we express our gratitude to the citizens of Pickaway County for patronizing the bazaar — a project that helps support our hospital.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Some independent economists are anticipating poorer conditions for 1967 than are many of the industrial economists whose views have been widely publicized.

A large disparity is appearing in the forecasts for the coming year.

A 1967 Gross National Product of $790 billion seems to be the estimate of many industrial economists, those who forecast for the insurance companies, manufacturers and stock market people.

That would mean a sizeable gain of about $50 billion in the total output of goods and services perhaps the best indicator of the strength or weakness of the economy.

But, some highly regarded private analysts feel the GNP for 1967 might be as low as $740 billion, which would mean no gain at all. Relatively speaking such a figure could be termed recessionary.

Forecasting is essentially interpreting and there is a general understanding among economists that the bright view of statistics must be taken by some.

Manufacturers of consumer products, for example, are not likely to knock the estimates of their own sales manager. Brook-erage housesay nature, often choose to look for the best.

Other forecasters steer an undramatic middle course, offering no great revelations but, because of their independence, sometimes hitting the mark.

On the other extreme are the cognizant bears who choose darkness on the theory they might shine like a beacon. The dark side of the forecasting field is less crowded. And the odds are that eventually a bearish forecast might be right.

But, aside from these factors, there are complications in next year's picture.

Too much of 1967, more so than in most years, is filled with situations that are balanced on a razor's edge and may tilt either way taxes and Vietnam especially. Moreover the credibility of government estimates is an uncertainty.

The Vietnam war bill for this year is actually double the budget estimate made a year ago. If estimates were so far wrong then, some forecasters say, maybe they can be wrong now also.

This is a basic hazard for forecasters. A $10-billion miscalculation was a monumental one but its repercussions were even more awesome. If the costs of the war had been for-cast accurately we might have an entirely different economy now.

For one thing, the administration might have yielded earlier this year to pressures for a tax increase. Rightly or wrongly it resisted such pressures.

Now the administration is faced with a tax decision again but one of a different sort. The consideration now is the raising of money rather than the dampening of demand.

The economy already has showed indications of slowing, thus lessening the argument for a tax increase. But the budget estimate might demand that money be raised through taxes.

While recognizing that heavy government expenditures will be a prop under the 1967 economy, some independent forecasters feel this might be counteracted by a general lessening of demand.

The growth in consumer demand, they say, already has begun to lessen. And some projections indicate that the growth in capital expenditures might lessen progressively through 1967.

Such a slowdown of the rate at which demand increase would obviously have effects throughout the economy — adverse but at the present time unmeasurable.

The bulls, on the other hand, has their projections on a high level of government spending and on a continuation of business and consumer spending.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Children of the Pickaway County Children's Home were guests at a Christmas party by the Kiwanis Club in the social rooms of Circleville High School.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

A 15-year-old boy came to my office with a relatively unimportant medical problem. In the course of treatment he revealed to me many of the additional emotional and psychological conflicts, confusion and frustrations that, he said, he was unable to discuss with his parents.

His basic complaint, stated with special wisdom and insight, was "they are mixed up because I am mixed up. They still treat me like a baby and I am not sure exactly who I am."

The adolescent may be temporarily lost in his own conflict and needs special support and understanding until he finds himself.

Adolescence is the period in life between puberty and maturity. Adolescence is an in-between period of physical and emotional growth.

The teenager, or adolescent, has outgrown childhood desires and has not yet encountered those that accompany adulthood.

In communities where the pediatrician rather than the general physician takes care of the child, the adolescent is in a state of limbo, not really belonging to any medical class. More and more the adolescents and their problems are being separated into a highly specialized branch of medicine.

Clinics all over the country are devoting themselves to this crucial period in the lives of maturing children.

What is there special about the adolescent that deserves this growing medical specialty that concentrates on them only?

The most striking difference of this age group is the rapidity of the physical and emotional changes that seem to occur almost daily. There is probably no time in life, except during infancy, when growth is so rapid.

The hormones in both the girls and the boys are pouring into their bodies and trying hard to find the balance needed for approaching maturity.

Physical, emotional and sexual maturity proceed at different rates of speed during the wide span of years called adolescence. During this rebellious period, the adolescent girl and boy seek hard to find their own identity, their own independence, creating their own objectives and departing from the opinions and attitudes that they believe were forced on them.

Later the impact of parental teaching and morality becomes evident as they reach maturity. With understanding, guidance, patience and emotional support, the adolescent can merge into maturity and responsibility with pride in their own accomplishment and in their heritage.

Uncover every fire hazard in your own home and place of business.

Can of Worms at U.N.

The future of the western world gets more and more doubtful every day because statesmen, so-called, think they have a commitment to follow "logical next steps."

One important "logical" issue as this column is being written is coming to a head at the UN, with the British Foreign Secretary, George Brown, in New York to present his country's case for sanctions against the breakaway African colony of Rhodesia. It doesn't matter much whether the sanctions are tough or timorous, for disaster lurks ahead from one quarter or another no matter what course is followed. If Britain with the United States as its pledged supporter, is forced to crack down on South Africa to prevent embargoed goods from going through to Rhodesia, it means an economic struggle to the death between the United Kingdom and its fourth largest customer. The British pound already in plenty of trouble, won't be able to take it, and the U.S. dollar, as the one remaining world "reserve currency," will be faced with something that could result in a 1929 situation. On the other hand, if economic sanctions against Rhodesia are merely lip-service stuff, the tropical African bloc at the UN will not sit quietly.

The battle is being billed in the UN as one between morality and the dollar sign. Morality says that one man should have one vote in Rhodesia, where the white minority currently rules over a majority of blacks. The tropical Africans, taking high moral ground, are quite oblivious to what might happen to the world outside of Africa if the British pound and the U.S. dollar both falter. And they don't really comprehend what might happen inside Africa. Always, in the past, the tropical Africans have been able to count on the pound and the dollar. The western money tree has never yet failed to be good for one more shaking, whether the need has been for medicine or foundation money to support wild animal preserves, or investment funds to open up copper mines. Knowing nothing of finance, the new tropical African finance ministers assume that men from the bush will find some way of making a living even if every South African port is closed by British and U. S. warships.

Yet this isn't the way things would work out. Blacks have moved into both Rhodesia and South Africa despite political discrimination and apartheid, for purely economic reasons. If abstract morality meant anything to these blacks, they would refuse to work for masters who are immorally committed against the "one man one vote" idea. But when it comes to advocating a work embargo against white business, the tropical Africans are mum.

Nothing is simple in this world, and the question whether it can really be moral to provoke a depression that will multiply misery and starvation among black people who need jobs to support themselves and their families is one of those conundrums that must forever baffle the schoolmen. So it is not surprising that the tropical African rulers don't follow through with their own thinking.

The question of "democracy" in Africa is itself up in the air. The tropical Africans at the UN want "one man, one vote" for Rhodesia. Yet many of the new African states are single-party affairs in which the slogan might be "one man, one vote, once." Many of the Africans have confused democracy with tribe and race; they aren't really against dictatorship rule provided the dictators are black.

The British request for UN sanctions against Rhodesia opens up still another gray world in which talk about morality is rooted in the worst sort of confusion. If it is moral to embargo the white Rhodesians because they want to slow down the rush to "one man, one vote," then, by the same token, it must be immoral for Canada, say, to pledge its future wheat crop to Red China's Mao Tse-tung. After all, Mao, who doesn't believe in "one man, one vote," presided over the collective death sentence of 20 million anti-Red Chinese in the revolution of the late Nineteen Forties, which was worse from a moral standpoint than anything the South Africans or Rhodesians have ever done.

The situation at the UN is a can of worms anyway you take it. Nobody there comes into court with clean hands. And there is no "moral" way of settling the issue. It will be resolved along the lines of propagandistic force.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Some independent economists are anticipating poorer conditions for 1967 than are many of the industrial economists whose views have been widely publicized.

A large disparity is appearing in the forecasts for the coming year.

A 1967 Gross National Product of $790 billion seems to be the estimate of many industrial economists, those who forecast for the insurance companies, manufacturers and stock market people.

That would mean a sizeable gain of about $50 billion in the total output of goods and services perhaps the best indicator of the strength or weakness of the economy.

But, some highly regarded private analysts feel the GNP for 1967 might be as low as $740 billion, which would mean no gain at all. Relatively speaking such a figure could be termed recessionary.

Forecasting is essentially interpreting and there is a general understanding among economists that the bright view of statistics must be taken by some.

Manufacturers of consumer products, for example, are not likely to knock the estimates of their own sales manager. Broerage housesay nature, often choose to look for the best.

Other forecasters steer an undramatic middle course, offering no great revelations but, because of their independence, sometimes hitting the mark.

On the other extreme are the cognital bears who choose darkness on the theory they might shine like a beacon. The dark side of the forecasting field is less crowded. And the odds are that eventually a bearish forecast might be right.

But, aside from these factors, there are complications in next year's picture.

Too much of 1967, more so than in most years, is filled with situations that are balanced on a razor's edge and may tilt either way taxes and Vietnam especially. Moreover the credibility of government estimates is an uncertainty.

The Vietnam war bill for this year is actually double the budget estimate made a year ago. If estimates were so far wrong then, some forecasters say, maybe they can be wrong now also.

This is a basic hazard for forecasters. A $10-billion miscalculation was a monumental one but its repercussions were even more awesome. If the costs of the war had been for-cast accurately we might have an entirely different economy now.

For one thing, the administration might have yielded earlier this year to pressures for a tax increase. Rightly or wrongly it resisted such pressures.

Now the administration is faced with a tax decision again but one of a different sort. The consideration now is the raising of money rather than the dampening of demand.

The economy already has showed indications of slowing, thus lessening the argument for a tax increase. But the budget estimate might demand that money be raised through taxes.

While recognizing that heavy government expenditures will be a prop under the 1967 economy, some independent forecasters feel this might be counteracted by a general lessening of demand.

The growth in consumer demand, they say, already has begun to lessen. And some projections indicate that the growth in capital expenditures might lessen progressively through 1967.

Such a slowdown of the rate at which demand increase would obviously have effects throughout the economy — adverse but at the present time unmeasurable.

The bulls, on the other hand, base their projections on a high level of government spending and on a continuation of business and consumer spending.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

A 15-year-old boy came to my office with a relatively unimportant medical problem. In the course of treatment he revealed to me many of the additional emotional and psychological conflicts, confusion and frustrations that, he said, he was unable to discuss with his parents.

His basic complaint, stated with special wisdom and insight, was "they are mixed up because I am mixed up. They still treat me like a baby and I am not sure exactly who I am."

The adolescent may be temporarily lost in his own conflict and needs special support and understanding until he finds himself.

Adolescence is the period in life between puberty and maturity. Adolescence is an in-between period of physical and emotional growth.

The teenager, or adolescent, has outgrown childhood desires and has not yet encountered those that accompany adulthood.

In communities where the pediatrician rather than the general physician takes care of the child, the adolescent is in a state of limbo, not really belonging to any medical class. More and more the adolescents and their problems are being separated into a highly specialized branch of medicine.

Clinics all over the country are devoting themselves to this crucial period in the lives of maturing children.

What is there special about the adolescent that deserves this growing medical specialty that concentrates on them only?

The most striking difference of this age group is the rapidity of the physical and emotional changes that seem to occur almost daily. There is probably no time in life, except during infancy, when growth is so rapid.

The hormones in both the girls and the boys are pouring into their bodies and trying hard to find the balance needed for approaching maturity.

Physical, emotional and sexual maturity proceed at different rates of speed during the wide span of years called adolescence. During this rebellious period, the adolescent girl and boy seek hard to find their own identity, their own independence, creating their own objectives and departing from the opinions and attitudes that they believe were forced on them.

Later the impact of parental teaching and morality becomes evident as they reach maturity. With understanding, guidance, patience and emotional support, the adolescent can merge into maturity and responsibility with pride in their own accomplishment and in their heritage.

Watching the Office Zoo

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas brings out the best and the worst in the occupants of the office zoo.

In almost every American business office between now and the first of the year some or all of these things are bound to occur:

Some wag will try to figure a way to put a fifth of gin in the water cooler.

The secretaries in each department will compete to see which can put up the prettiest small Christmas tree by her desk.

Some cheapskate will steal the string of lights off at least one tree to decorate his own tree at home.

If someone takes up a collection for the janitor, half the staff will say, "Why him—why not one for the office boy?"

If someone takes up a collection for the office boy, half the staff will say, "Why him—why not one for the janitor?"

If someone takes up a collection for both the office boy and the janitor, three out of four members of the staff will whine, "When are you going to take up a collection for me?"

The senior executives will give their secretaries gift certificates averaging $25 and get their annual reward—a dutiful peck on the cheek.

The junior executives will pass out stale boxes of cheap chocolates — and charming smiles. They'll get back from the girls grumpy looks of feigned gratitude.

Everybody will come to work later and later, and output will fall about 50 per cent.

The coffee breaks and luncheon periods will get longer and longer, as the employees try to do as much shopping as possible on company time.

From Dec. 15 on, only one out of three calls going through the office switchboard will have anything to do with the firm's business.

The homeliest girl in the place will sneak in a big sprig of mistletoe and furtively drop it on the desk of some bold fellow she's sure will hang it up.

Someone will be fired; someone will be hired.

One of the stenographers will come reeling in from an all-hen luncheon so loaded with daiquiris she'll have to spend the rest of the afternoon recuperating in the ladies' washroom.

The office toper will be picked most of the week before

Christmas, buttonholing passers-by in the locker room and weeping tears of 86 proof bourbon as he shows them pictures of his mother and exclaims, "She's the grandest girl that ever lived!"

At least 12 grim-faced wives will show up to collect their husband's check on payday so he won't be tempted to cash it himself on the way home.

If you say: "Have a Merry Christmas" to the office grouch, he'll snarl back, "Why should I—do I have to?"

In the general spirit of holiday cheer, half a dozen old office feuds will be healed—and half a dozen new feuds begun.

If the firm doesn't give a Christmas bonus, a third of the employees assure each other that come Jan. 1, they're going to look around for an organization that recognizes honest merit.

If the firm does give a Christmas bonus, two-thirds of the employees complain, "Santa Claus sure had arthritis of the hand this year, didn't he?"

To the Editor:

An extreme effort has been made to inform everyone regarding the need for additional funds for the Circleville City Schools which will be decided today because of the importance of the results.

The various cutbacks have been studied and advertised and all citizens should be aware that a defeat of the levy will bring these about.

It has taken a long time, a lot of hard work, planning and cooperation to reach the level of education now offered in city schools.

Our school district operates with a minimum staff and cannot afford any cutbacks in personnel without seriously hampering the educational program. Each employee of the school district is asked to and is putting forth a 100 per cent effort and assignment.

The programs offered are good and meet state standards yet are free of frills. Any reduction in program will cause us to fall below state standards.

We have been cutting our appropriations each year below what they should be with the hope that additional funds would be forthcoming. Therefore, we cannot "tighten our belt" without losing programs.

You cannot afford to lose any portion of our present program or children will be denied a comparable program to other good schools in Ohio. Competition is difficult enough without adding to the problem by voting to reduce what we already have. It is a minimum request.

Please don't allow a few negative attitudes to dominate. Prevent a serious situation from occurring by supporting your children and your community by voting for the school levy.

ROBERT ELSEA

To the Editor:

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all who helped make this year's General Guild Bazaar a success.

The time and talents given by the guild homemakers who work diligently all year on bazaar items can be shown in the proceeds realized Dec. 2.

Special thanks go to the chairmen, Mrs. Richard Huggins, Mrs. Rusty Vaughn, Mrs. Bud Hritz, Mrs. Leonard Hoffman Jr. and their committees and Mrs. Howard Weaver and all who supported the Food Booth.

Appreciation also is in order for John Robinson, Stonerock's TV and Appliances and the Eagles Lodge for their services.

Recognition also is due Hospital Guilds 30 and 37 for selling the most "Money Tree" tets.

And we express our gratitude to the citizens of Pickaway County for patronizing the bazaar — a project that helps support our hospital.

Teacher's Lot Is Not Happy One—Anywhere

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans for a $10-million Ford Foundation grant to show the potential of educational television through a series of national programs were to be fled in Washington Monday with the Federal Communications Commission.

The grant was disclosed Sunday by McGeorge Bundy, president of the foundation.

The Sunday night programs, tentatively scheduled to begin next Sept. 3, will explore in detail news developments of the previous week.

Bundy said the purpose of the grant was to use existing relay facilities on the ground to demonstrate what educational television could produce if it had domestic communication satellite facilities and adequate financing for more diversified programming. No operating domestic satellite systems expected for two years at the earliest.

MOSCOW (AP) — Schools in the Soviet Union and Communist China came under official criticism Monday, with Soviet high schools accused of falling standards and Chinese universities blamed for fostering ideas contrary to that country's cultural revolution.

Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi was quoted as saying the time required to get a university degree will be cut to four years, from five or six years, so that graduates can become useful members of society sooner. Two of the four years will be spent in practical training at factories and farms.

The over-all academic achievement of pupils of Russian Federation schools in the past year dropped somewhat, Mikhail A. Prokofyev, the federation's minister of education, reported in the Communist party paper Pravda.

He said the rate of failures is high, good pupils are not taught enough physics instruction is old-fashioned, and physics and mathematics teachers are scarce.

The Russian Federation contains 55 per cent of the Soviet Union's population and its educational programs set the pattern for the rest of the nation.

"The vast majority of courses will be seriously modernized," the minister said in discussing the goal of universal 10-year education by 1970. Some Soviet students now do not reach the eighth grade and many drop out after that.

Chen Yi was quoted by the Peking correspondent of the Japanese paper Nihon Keizai as telling a group of visiting Japanese businessmen that university students "are prone to revisionist thinking" and should spend more time with workers and farmers "to learn the real

Supreme Court Actions Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—In major actions Monday the Supreme Court:

Ruled 5 to 4 that the Georgia Legislature may pick the state's next governor under an 1824 provision of the state constitution.

By a 6-1 vote, affirmed the conviction for jury tampering of James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, who faces an eight-year prison sentence.

By 6-1 vote, upheld the bribery conviction of Z. T. Osborn Jr., a former Teamsters Union lawyer.

Said it would review later this term Virginia laws that bar interracial marriages.

Refused to re-examine organized baseball's longstanding immunity from antitrust laws.

Just for a change, serve sauerkraut hot rather than cold, with corned beef. Add the kraut to the kettle in which the beef is simmering about half an hour before the meat is done.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Idle Gossip Not Worth the Bother

DEAR ABBY: I guess we are never too old to need advice. I am a 68-year-old widow who for the last two years has been keeping company with a 75-year-old widower. He has invited me to attend a Shriners' convention with him in Hawaii in January.

He has a good friend about his age who has a lady friend about my age. The two boys said they could room together and we two girls could room together. Does this sound all right to you, Abby? Or do you think people will talk?

NEEDS A BRA

DEAR ABBY: Some women complain that they don't get to go to the Christmas parties given by their husbands' companies. My problem is just the opposite.

Our company puts on a big Christmas party for the employees. There are always about 200 people there, husbands and wives. It is a very respectable party with a fine dinner at the best hotel, and they even have an orchestra and entertainment. Everyone looks forward to it.

My wife refuses to go. She says she doesn't know the people, she is not thirsty, and she'd only be bored. I am afraid if

EMBARRASSED

DEAR ABBY: If you feel that your boss and co-workers would be "insulted" by your absence — go alone. And if anyone asks where your wife is, say she's "sick." (She is, in a way.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for "OUT OF IT," who was disgusted with the two teen-age girls who returned to school the day after their mother died. "OUT OF IT" obviously has had no experience with that sort of thing, and she is fortunate.

When my husband died I went back to work the day after his funeral. I am sure I must have been criticized behind my back, but it didn't matter. Had I sat home, grieving over my loss I would have lost my mind. My only salvation was in keeping busy, busy, busy. Sign me. . . OVER IT

Mrs. Coit Wilson was general chairman of planning and managing the program that concerned the club. "In The Beginning, Is Now, and Ever Shall Be," Mrs. David Whaley was piano accompanist for all of musical inclusions.

Mrs. Earl Seitz read the club history as arranged from facts and opinions by Mrs. Chandler. Mrs. Earl Smith read the minutes of the first meeting, Dec. 11, 1923, and gave highlights of the early years. Roll call was taken.

A telegram contest was conducted by Mrs. Leora Sayre. Members wrote a telegram to Santa using words beginning with letters in Santa Claus and the response message from the letters in Merry Christmas. Mrs. Charles Curlett's messages were commended.

Mrs. Charles Winner was in charge of awarding the door prizes. Winners were Miss Daisy Karlskint, Mrs. Roloff Wolford and Mrs. Wilson. After co-operative singing of Christmas carols, Miss Brink sang two songs.

Mrs. Keith Wagner, president, presided during the brief business meeting. Miss Ruth Hulse reported that all of the fruit cakes had been sold. A communication was read from the Ohio Arts Council concerning a State - Wide Cultural survey.

Christmas decorations centered the table and Mrs. Seitz served the birthday cake along with mints and nuts. Mrs. Wagner served the beverage.

During the birthday session, members and guests had an opportunity to inspect and talk concerning the display of old records, publicity books, and the album of 21 beginning members.

DEAR ABBY: This sounds perfectly all right to me. And if people talk, they're just jealous.

DEAR ABBY: You probably won't believe this, but I am 15 years old and need a bra, but my mother won't buy me one. She says I don't really need one. She makes me wear a T-shirt like my brothers. Abby, I tried on my girl friend's bra and it was a 36-B and it fit me perfectly.

I hate to go to gym because if the other girls see my T-shirt they will make fun of me, so I say I have a headache or a stomachache and I skip as many gym classes all I can. I have missed so much gym I might not get a credit. Please help me, Miss Abby, I can't talk to my mother.

DEAR NEEDS: Go to your gym teacher, dear, and tell her the truth. If it's difficult to "find the words" — show her this column. She'll understand. I'll bet your problem will be solved within two weeks. If it isn't, write again, and I will write a letter to your mother.

Translating Capote's Book into Film Is Tough

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His secretary brought Richard Brooks a pre-lunch Bloody Mary, and the writer-director sipped it as he agonized over his chore of translating "In Cold Blood" to the screen.

The book was the work of Truman Capote, the noted party-giver, who invited Brooks and wife Jean Simmons to his recent masked ball. Brooks declined the invitation — "I'm not much for parties." Besides, he had his work cut out for him: making a compact, playable script out of Capote's "non-fiction novel" about the murder of a Kansas family by two ex-convicts.

"I'm supposed to start shooting in the Midwest in late February-early March, and I'm only half-finished with the script," Brooks sighed. "Frankly, I don't know how the hell it's going to end."

"Oh, the ending is there: the two guys get executed. But what is the picture going to say when it's all over. It's one thing to write a book about an atrocious crime and view it in a reportorial manner. But a film is different."

"There are a million people who will be ready to criticize me for how I treat the material. Many will want me to include everything in the book and that would mean a 14-hour movie."

Because of his writing, Brooks hasn't been able to get around to other production chores as yet. He has cast only one performer — television actor Robert Blake, who will play one of the criminals, Perry Smith.

"I'm still holding to the policy of choosing non-stars despite phony reports that names are being considered."

"I'm avoiding stars to achieve reality, but also for a practical reason: I can't afford them. I've told Columbia that this picture must be made as cheaply as possible because I don't expect it to have wide appeal. It may be too honest for the public."

Brooks expects to film "In Cold Blood" at the actual scene of the killings in Holcomb, Kan., in the real courtroom and jail at Garden City; the Kansas Penitentiary if permission is granted; and in other locations at Las Vegas, Reno and Elko in Nevada, Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan.; plus interiors in Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stout, 812 Arbor Road, attended the 23rd annual convention and exposition of The National Assn. of Home Builders at McCormick Place in Chicago, Ill.

Stout, a national director of the association, along with his wife attended several of the more than 100 meetings and seminars on financing, design, marketing and construction methods.

Theme of the convention was "A New Home Is Your Best Investment Now." According to reports it is predicted that increasing land and construction costs will add some $1,000 to the average house during the coming year.

January Orders To Halt Downward Trend in Steel

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —An increase in steel orders in January can be counted on to halt the downturn in steel production, Steel Magazine said today.

December's slowness is blamed on "vacancies in order books, year-end inventory taxes in some states, requests by the automobile and appliance industries to delay shipments and seasonal cutbacks in orders from the construction industry," Steel said.

The metalworking weekly said that "in the third consecutive week of slowdown, output of steel for ingots and castings is estimated at 2.4 million net tons in the week ended Dec. 10."

"The preceding week's output 243,000 tons marked the first time since August that the weekly total was below 2.5 million tons," Steel said.

However, the magazine said that the output is higher than it was last year—2,173,000 tons in the week ended Dec. 11, "when steel users were working off strike hedge inventories."

Railroads and freight car builders still are continuing their strong steel demands the magazine said. "Mill shipments of standard rails should total more than 850,000 tons this year," Steel said, "and make it the best year for the product since 1957, when 1,194,000 tons were shipped."

Steel said it would take about 7.5 months to build an estimated 58,000 units on order as of Nov. 1, although backlog orders for new freight cars are declining slightly. About 11,000 cars are scheduled for rebuilding and will require about the same amount of time, the magazine said.

"The auto industry is tailoring production downward in line with sales," Steel said. "U. S. auto plants had scheduled December passenger car output at 780,000 units, but there is growing belief that only 750,000 perhaps fewer, will be produced. Projections for November called for 890,000 units, but only 84,000 were made."

The magazine said the construction industry has reduced orders for structural shapes and plates because of the seasonal lag.

A sharp drop in orders also was noted by fabricators of structural steel, Steel said. However, "as builders move to inside work for the winter months, the shift could bring an increase in demand for pipe and other tubular products, plus galvanized sheets for duct-work," the magazine said.

Steel's composite price on No. 1 heavy melting scrap dropped to $28.17 a gross ton, down 16 cents from the previous week.

Sen. Murphy Seen Likely For GOP Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Sen. George Murphy appears headed for the GOP job that helped make Barry Goldwater famous — hunting votes and money for Republican Senate campaigners.

Goldwater, who served four years as chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, said he thinks Murphy, 64, should get the post.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who holds it now, said the Californian apparently has the votes to take over when GOP senators fill the position in January.

Morton is leaving the post to prepare his own re-election campaign. Goldwater plans a Senate race for the Arizona seat now held by Sen. Carl Hayden, a Democrat.

Murphy leans toward conservatism; Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who also wants the job, is among the Senate's more liberal Republicans.

But Goldwater said in an interview that ideology has nothing to do with his view. "I think somebody like Murphy will be more universally accepted, particularly in the West," he said.

"This is no ideological clash in the party at all," said Morton, "just a question of who can raise some hard cash."

He said Murphy ranks right behind Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen as the most sought-after speaker among GOP senators.

Bar Shooting Leaves 2 Dead, 1 Hurt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two persons are dead and another was in critical condition as the result of a shooting scrape in a Columbus bar early today.

Police identified the dead Richard Hanrahan, 25, and his wife, Jacqueline. Both lived at separate addresses in Columbus.

Reported in critical condition in Mount Carmel Hospital was Sandra Martin, 21, also of Columbus. She was shot under the arm.

Police said Hanrahan walked into the bar and opened fire on a group of five people, including his wife and the wounded woman.

Mrs. Hanrahan suffered a fatal bullet wound in her head.

Hanrahan then turned toward a bartender, identified by police as Lynn Heagle, 28. Heagle reached below the bar, grabbed a .38 caliber revolver and killed Hanrahan, police said.

Three Men Are Promoted At Du Pont R&D Laboratory

DAVID T. HOFFMAN JR.

JOSEPH P. GLAS

Two promotions and one transfer — promotion were announced today by officials at Du Pont's Circleville Research & Development Laboratory.

The assignment changes concern David T. Hoffman Jr., Joseph P. Glas and John J. Keane.

Hoffman has been promoted to research manager at the Circleville R&D Lab. Glas has been named a research supervisor as has Keane following his transfer here from the company's Chestnut Run Laboratory at Wilmington, Del.

Hoffman who lives at 995 Lynwood Court is a 1955 graduate of Northwestern University where he earned a bachelor degree in chemical engineering. He was awarded his Ph D in the same field of study in 1959 at Purdue University.

THE NEW manager joined Du Pont in 1962 as a research engineer at the Yerkes Research Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y. He was promoted to research supervisor there in 1964. He was transferred to the Circleville R&D Lab in 1965 as a research supervisor.

Hoffman is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, the Chillum Presbyterian Church and the Pickaway Country Club. He and his wife, Ruth have four children, Susan 9, Lee, 8, Lynn, 5 and David T. III, 1.

Glas who joined Du Pont in 1964 as a research engineer at the local laboratory, is an alumnus of Rockhurst College at Kansas City, Mo., where he received a bachelor degree in chemistry in 1960. He earned his MA degree in chemical engineering in 1962 at the University of Illinois and a doctorate in chemical engineering at the same school in 1965.

The new supervisor and his wife, Donna, live at 711 N. Pickaway St. They have one daughter, Kathryn Elizabeth, 1.

Glas is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus where he is chief counselor for Squires and is scoutmaster for Troop 205.

KEANE is a graduate of the

JOHN J. KEANE

University of Utah where he earned a bachelor degree in chemistry in 1955 and his Ph D in organic chemistry in 1959. Single, he resides in Columbus.

Th supervisor stated this Du Pont tenure in 1959 as a research chemist at the Cellophane Research & Development Laboratory, Richmond, Va.

Keane was transferred to the Chestnut Run Laboratory at Wilmington as a technical representative, Vnture Development Section in 1961. He was named to the Sales Division there in 1964.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society and is active in tournament bridge.

Yule Decorations Asked for Needy

Christmas ornaments and decorations will be distributed to needy families on Saturday by the Council of Church Women.

Ornaments will be given away beginning 2 p. m. at the Masonic Temple lobby "until they are all gone," a spokesman for the women's group announced.

Persons having ornaments or decorations they no longer need or want are asked to deliver them to the Masonic Temple prior to the 2 p. m. distribution time.

However, the spokesmen said electrical decorations will not be accepted as a safeguard against fire hazards.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The evolution of the Supreme Court — its willingness to plunge into the various thickets of American existence — has been a slow process.

From the beginning the court had the power to make decisions, and often did, broad enough to affect all American life although some of them at the time may have seemed too remote to give that impression.

But how deeply the court got into the everyday scene with its multitude of problems, including very human ones, depended on the members of the court at any one period: their philosophy about the role of the court, their courage, timidity, conservatism, liberalism, perhaps intellectual vigor, and the mood of the times.

The present court is the most activist in history, leaving its imprint in all directions. Its willingness to move in on civil rights, school prayers or legislative reapportionment are just the spectacular examples.

It has shown an equal readiness to tackle a wide range of dilemmas — personal, political, or economic although all of them have a constitutional question within them — and its actions Monday were a good example.

It unsnarled Georgia's recent election dispute — should Democrat Lester G. Maddox or Republican Howard Callaway be governor — by ruling the state legislature can decide.

This was probably the Supreme Court doing the deciding since the Georgia Legislature which meets Jan. 9 is overwhelmingly Democratic. A minority of the court thought there should be a run-off election.

Then the court dipped into the very human problem of people in love and people's rights.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Loving — he is white, she is part Indian, part Negro — went to live in Virginia where they were arrested, convicted, and sentenced to a year in jail under the state law forbidding the marriage of white and "colored" persons. They fought the conviction.

They argued on a number of grounds: that the Virginia law violates their constitutional guarantee to equal protection, to privacy, to choose a marriage partner, and other civil rights. The Supreme Court agreed to consider their case.

It should have a wide effect, besides a human one, since there are 16 states, in addition to Virginia, which have similar laws.

Then the court closed doors and seemed to open some. It flattened Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa as he has never been flattened before by upholding his 1964 jury-tampering conviction.

On top of this the court gave tricks and snooping, electronic and otherwise.

It upheld the jury-tampering conviction of Z. T. Osborn Jr., one of Hoffa's lawyers, convicted of trying to bribe a jury member with $10,000 to free his boss.

Osborn claimed he was snared by an electronic "snooper," arguing that the supposed go-between with the juror had a hidden tape-recorder when he talked to Osborn. The go-between was a detective.

The court approved, 8 to 1, a government agent's posing as a potential customer to gain entry, without a search warrant, to obtain evidence for conviction of a narcotics peddler, Duke Lewis of Boston.

Georgia Lawmakers in Favor Of Lester G. Maddox, 4 to 1

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A check of Georgia legislators, who will elect the state's next governor, gives Democrat Lester G. Maddox almost a 4-to-1 edge over Republican candidate Howard Callaway. But many lawmakers still were undecided.

The General Assembly, consisting of 259 lawmakers, has 229 Democrats — 46 out of 54 in the Senate and 183 out of 205 in the House. The legislature is expected to select the next governor Jan. 10, the day after the next legislative session begins.

The Associated Press sampling shows: Maddox, 33, Callaway 9, undecided 33.

Among the undecided were 11 Negroes, and one commented he would not vote for either of the candidates. The legislators were asked what their decisions would be at an annual legislative institute at the University of Georgia in Athens, and by telephone.

Both Callaway and Maddox were at the meeting Monday seeking to convince legislators, that each was the best man for the job.

But the two rivals gave different viewpoints on the outcome of the U.S. Supreme Court's 5-4 ruling allowing the legislature to choose the man they want to fill the governor's chair.

"I think it would be very tough on a man to be named governor if he did not win a majority of the votes by the people," Callaway said.

But Maddox, hailing the decision, said he was sure he would be Georgia's next governor because of legislative support.

Some legislators, dissatisfied with both candidates, reportedly have started a movement to block either one from claiming the governorship.

Their strategy is to refrain from voting when the legislature meets in joint session. The Georgia constitution requires the votes of a majority of members present at the session.

Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton, asked what would be the result if the lawmakers fail to make a decision, said that Gov. Carl Sanders possibly could remain in office.

The gubernatorial deadlock resulted when neither Maddox nor Callaway polled a majority of votes in the Nov. 8 general election due to a write-in campaign for former Gov. Ellis Arnall. Callaway got 451,032 votes, Maddox 448,598 and Arnall 57,832.

Philos Lodge Confers Rank

The rank of knight was conferred on two local candidates Monday night by Philos Lodge No. 64, Knights of Pythias.

Installed to full membership in the organization were Dr. Robert B. Moser and Tracy DeLong. Kenneth Good, a candidate of Scipio Lodge No. 255 in Stoutsville, also received the rank of knight during the initiation ceremonies.

Visitors were present from Stoutsville, Canal Winchester and Ashville.

Sen. Murphy Seen Likely For GOP Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Sen. George Murphy appears headed for the GOP job that helped make Barry Goldwater famous — hunting votes and money for Republican Senate campaigners.

Goldwater, who served four years as chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, said he thinks Murphy, 64, should get the post.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who holds it now, said the Californian apparently has the votes to take over when GOP senators fill the position in January.

Morton is leaving the post to prepare his own re-election campaign. Goldwater plans a Senate race for the Arizona seat now held by Sen. Carl Hayden, a Democrat.

Murphy leans toward conservatism; Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who also wants the job, is among the Senate's more liberal Republicans.

But Goldwater said in an interview that ideology has nothing to do with his view. "I think somebody like Murphy will be more universally accepted, particularly in the West," he said.

"This is no ideological clash in the party at all," said Morton, "just a question of who can raise some hard cash."

He said Murphy ranks right behind Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen as the most sought-after speechmaker among GOP senators.

Dirksen was not tipping his hand on a choice for the chairmanship. He said Sens. Jack R. Miller of Iowa and Gordon L. Allott of Colorado want it, too.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy and Santa travel across the seas in a turtle boat. They visit three fabulous islands before they come to the Island of Jewels.

CHAPTER EIGHT THE ROSANNA RUBY

The turtle boat landed on the shores of the island. Santa and Billy stepped out into a garden of jewels.

Emerald trees and diamond bushes and opal flowers bordered the walks of the garden. Sapphires and turquoise glittered in the grass. The precious stones sparkled in the sunlight and tinkled softly in the breeze.

A beautiful pixie came to meet them. She wore a pearl diadem on her head and a jade locket hung from her throat.

"Welcome," said the pixie. "I hope you like our garden."

"It is beautiful," said Santa. "But we do not have time to enjoy it."

He told her how Billy must slay Goko the giant because Goko had captured the Fairy Queen and the moon and vowed to capture Santa and rule all of Fairyland.

The pixie was very disturbed because this meant the giant would rule the Isle of Jewels, too. "What can I do?" she moaned.

Santa asked if she would give Billy the Rosanna Ruby. The pixie led them to the ruby grove and pointed to a brilliant stone. "This is the fairest ewel on the isle," she said. "I would gladly give it to you but it cannot be plucked from its branch unless Billy can solve a problem."

"What problem?" asked Billy eagerly.

"An arithmetic problem," said the pixie.

Billy sighed. Of all school subjects arithmetic had been the one he hated most. He had never done his lessons at all. He never believed a giant fighter would need arithmetic and spelling and boring things like that.

"What is the problem?" asked Santa.

The pixie said, "Billy has 24 apple pies. Billy eats thirteen. I eat one. You eat two. What is Billy left with?"

Billy got a stick and drew numbers in the dirt. He added and subtracted and crossed things out. He screwed up his face and chewed on his tongue and oh! how he wished he had paid attention at school.

Suddenly he had an answer. He cried, "If I had 24 apple pies and I ate thirteen and you ate one and Santa ate two I would be left with a stomach ache!"

The pixie held her sides and doubled up with laughter. "That's not the answer I had in mind but it will do!" she said and she plucked the ruby from its branch. She placed the stone in Billy's hands and said, "May this jewel help you slay the wicked giant!"

Then Billy and Santa climbed back into the turtle's upside down shell and sailed back across the sea to the land of the Harp Witch.

The witch had not been idle while they were gone. She had made a necklace out of the hairs from her own head woven with the webs of a hundred black widow spiders and the wool from the backs of a thousand caterpillars. She took the Rosanna Ruby and placed it carefully in the center of the band. It blazed with such flaming beauty it was certain the giant would not be able to resist it.

"But the band is so small," said Billy. "How will it fit around the giant's neck?"

The witch said the necklace would expand or shrink to fit any size and Billy must be careful not to wear it himself or it would work its magic on him.

Billy put it away in his pocket and Santa said he was ready to go fight Goko the giant. But the witch said, "What about all the other giants? Goko's brothers and his cousins and his nephews? They all live together in Goko's castle."

"W-what about them?" quavered Billy.

"You must destroy them ALL!" cried the witch.

Legislature

To Take Look At Itself

KENT, Ohio (AP)—One thing the Ohio Legislature will do in its biennial session starting Jan. 2 is take a look at itself and its operations.

And some changes already are in the making, according to House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess.

Kurfess is one of about a dozen legislators from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana who are attending a conference, sponsored by the American Assembly, at Kent State University this week. The conference is studying problems and internal operations of state legislatures.

One issue certain to come before the Ohio Legislature is the question of changing from biennial to annual sessions.

"I have felt for some time that Ohio should have annual sessions and go to annual budgets," the Bowling Green Republican said in an interview.

He indicated that if the system were changed, the alternate annual sessions should consider budgetary matters only.

"Operationally, the Ohio legislature compares favorably with most states," Kurfess remarked. "One area in which we have neglected ourselves," he added, "is in giving the Legislature—the committees especially—a professional staff."

Steps have been taken already, according to Kurfess, to provide staff help for committee chairmen.

The Legislative Service Commission staff, recently enlarged, will be available to committee chairmen for research work, the new speaker said.

"I think we will be behind some of the larger, more active states, but this is a great step," Kurfess declared.

1967 May Be Good Year For Auto Men

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto industry may be heading for one of its best years in history in 1967, Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp., said Monday.

In a year-end statement on the U.S. economic outlook, Donner predicted that total retail sales of motor vehicles "could well reach the nature and extent of 10 1/2 million cars and trucks in 1967.

But the chairman of the nation's biggest auto firm added: "Economic developments in 1967 will be importantly influenced by the magnitude of the resources required for Vietnam and the nature and extent of government actions in the areas of monetary and fiscal policy."

If Donner's prediction holds true, 1967 would rank third in total vehicles sold.

The GM chief said motor vehicle — cars, trucks, buses, etc. — sales this year will total about 10.6 million units, second only to the record volume of more than 10.8 million in 1965.

The 1967 model cars went on sale late in September, and Donner said that for October and November "the annual rate of sales is above the normal trend estimate for 1967 and is strong evidence that the industry's 1967 line of cars and trucks have been well received."

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy and Santa travel across the seas in a turtle boat. They visit three fabulous islands before they come to the Island of Jewels.

CHAPTER EIGHT THE ROSANNA RUBY

The turtle boat landed on the shores of the island. Santa and Billy stepped out into a garden of jewels.

Emerald trees and diamond bushes and opal flowers bordered the walks of the garden. Sapphires and turquoise glittered in the grass. The precious stones sparkled in the sunlight and tinkled softly in the breeze.

A beautiful pixie came to meet them. She wore a pearl diadem on her head and a jade locket hung from her throat.

"Welcome," said the pixie. "I hope you like our garden."

"It is beautiful," said Santa. "But we do not have time to enjoy it."

He told her how Billy must slay Goko the giant because Goko had captured the Fairy Queen and the moon and vowed to capture Santa and rule all of Fairyland.

The pixie was very disturbed because this meant the giant would rule the Isle of Jewels, too. "What can I do?" she moaned.

Santa asked if she would give Billy the Rosanna Ruby. The pixie led them to the ruby grove and pointed to a brilliant stone. "This is the fairest jewel on the isle," she said. "I would gladly give it to you but it cannot be plucked from its branch unless Billy can solve a problem."

"What problem?" asked Billy eagerly.

"An arithmetic problem," said the pixie.

Billy sighed. Of all school subjects arithmetic had been the one he hated most. He had never done his lessons at all. He never believed a giant fighter would need arithmetic and spelling and boring things like that.

"What is the problem?" asked Santa.

The pixie said, "Billy has 24 apple pies. Billy eats thirteen. I eat one. You eat two. What is Billy left with?"

Billy got a stick and drew numbers in the dirt. He added and subtracted and crossed things out. He screwed up his face and chewed on his tongue and oh! how he wished he had paid attention at school.

Suddenly he had an answer. He cried, "If I had 24 apple pies and I ate thirteen and you ate one and Santa ate two I would be left with a stomach ache!"

The pixie held her sides and doubled up with laughter.

"That's not the answer I had in mind but it will do!" she said and she plucked the ruby from its branch. She placed the stone in Billy's hands and said, "May this jewel help you slay the wicked giant!"

Then Billy and Santa climbed back into the turtle's upside down shell and sailed back across the sea to the land of the Harp Witch.

The witch had not been idle while they were gone. She had made a necklace out of the hairs from her own head woven with the webs of a hundred black widow spiders and the wool from the backs of a thousand caterpillars. She took the Rosanna Ruby and placed it carefully in the center of the band. It blazed with such flaming beauty it was certain the giant would not be able to resist it.

"But the band is so small," said Billy. "How will it fit around the giant's neck?"

The witch said the necklace would expand or shrink to fit any size and Billy must be careful not to wear it himself or it would work its magic on him.

Billy put it away in his pocket and Santa said he was ready to go fight Goko the giant. But the witch said, "What about all the other giants? Goko's brothers and his cousins and his nephews? They all live together in Goko's castle."

"What about them?" quavered Billy.

"You must destroy them ALL!" cried the witch.

Jets, Giants Key To Eastern Title

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York's pro football buffs, who counted themselves out of the American and National league title races weeks ago, can count themselves back in this weekend.

Although the Jets are going nowhere and the Giants have been three for sometime, each club may hold the key to its league's Eastern Division championship maze.

The Jets, whose hopes for an unprecedented winning season evaporated at San Diego last Sunday, take on the Boston Patriots, pace-setters in the AFL's Eastern race, at Shea Stadium Saturday. The Pats need either a victory or tie to lock up the division crown.

The Giants, most scored-upon club in NFL history, wind up their losingest season over Sunday when they entertain the explosive Dallas Cowboys at Yankee Stadium. The Cowboys can wrap up the Eastern Conference title before they take the field if Cleveland beats second-place St. Louis Saturday.

But a Cardinal victory would give the fallen Giants a shot at sidetracking Dallas' title express. The Cowboys then would have to either beat or tie New York to clinch their first division championship since they entered the NFL six years ago.

The Cowboys, with the highest scoring offense in the league, rate three-touchdown favorites over New York, which has yielded a record 484 points in sliding to a 1-11-1 season mark.

The Jets, 5-6-2, are six-point underdogs against the Patriots, 8-2, who have dropped only one of their last 10 starts.

The Patriots, who lead Buffalo's defending AFL champs by one-half game in the Eastern stretch race, expect Gino Cappelletti, the league's scoring leader, to be ready for full-time duty. Cappelletti nursed a bruised thigh through last Sunday's 18-14 victory at Houston.

Dallas, the NFL's Eastern crown within its grasp last Sunday, bowed at Washington 34-31. Quarterback Don Meredith, injured in the second period against the Redskins, should be ready to call signals against the Giants, who were drubbed by Pittsburgh 47-28 last Sunday.

Elsewhere Sunday, Green Bay's Western Division kings visit Los Angeles, Baltimore is at San Francisco, Minnesota at Chicago, Philadelphia at Washington and Pittsburgh at Atlanta in NFL play; Denver at Buffalo, Houston at Miami and Kansas City, the Western Division champion, at San Diego in the AFL.

Bruins Given Unanimous Vote in Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is no threat this week to UCLA's standing as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press' major-college basketball poll because the powerful Bruins are not scheduled. Second-ranked Texas Western and fourth-ranked Kentucky, though, seem to have difficult tasks ahead.

Texas Western meets fifth-ranked New Mexico Friday while Kentucky faces sixth-ranked North Carolina Tuesday.

UCLA was a unanimous choice in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday. The Bruins were placed in the top position by all 6 selectors on the national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Bruins, 3-0, defeated Duke twice last week, 88-54 Friday and 107-87 Saturday. The No. 1 team does not play again until Dec. 22 when it takes on Colorado State.

Texas Western, 5-0, held second place after defeating East Texas, Pan American and Southern Methodist.

Louisville switched places with Kentucky, the Cardinals moving to third and the Wildcats slipping to fourth. Louisville beat Southwestern Louisiana and Southern Illinois while Kentucky lost to Illinois in overtime and came back to down Northwestern.

New Mexico, winner over Loyola of Los Angeles and Texas Tech, advanced one place to fifth.

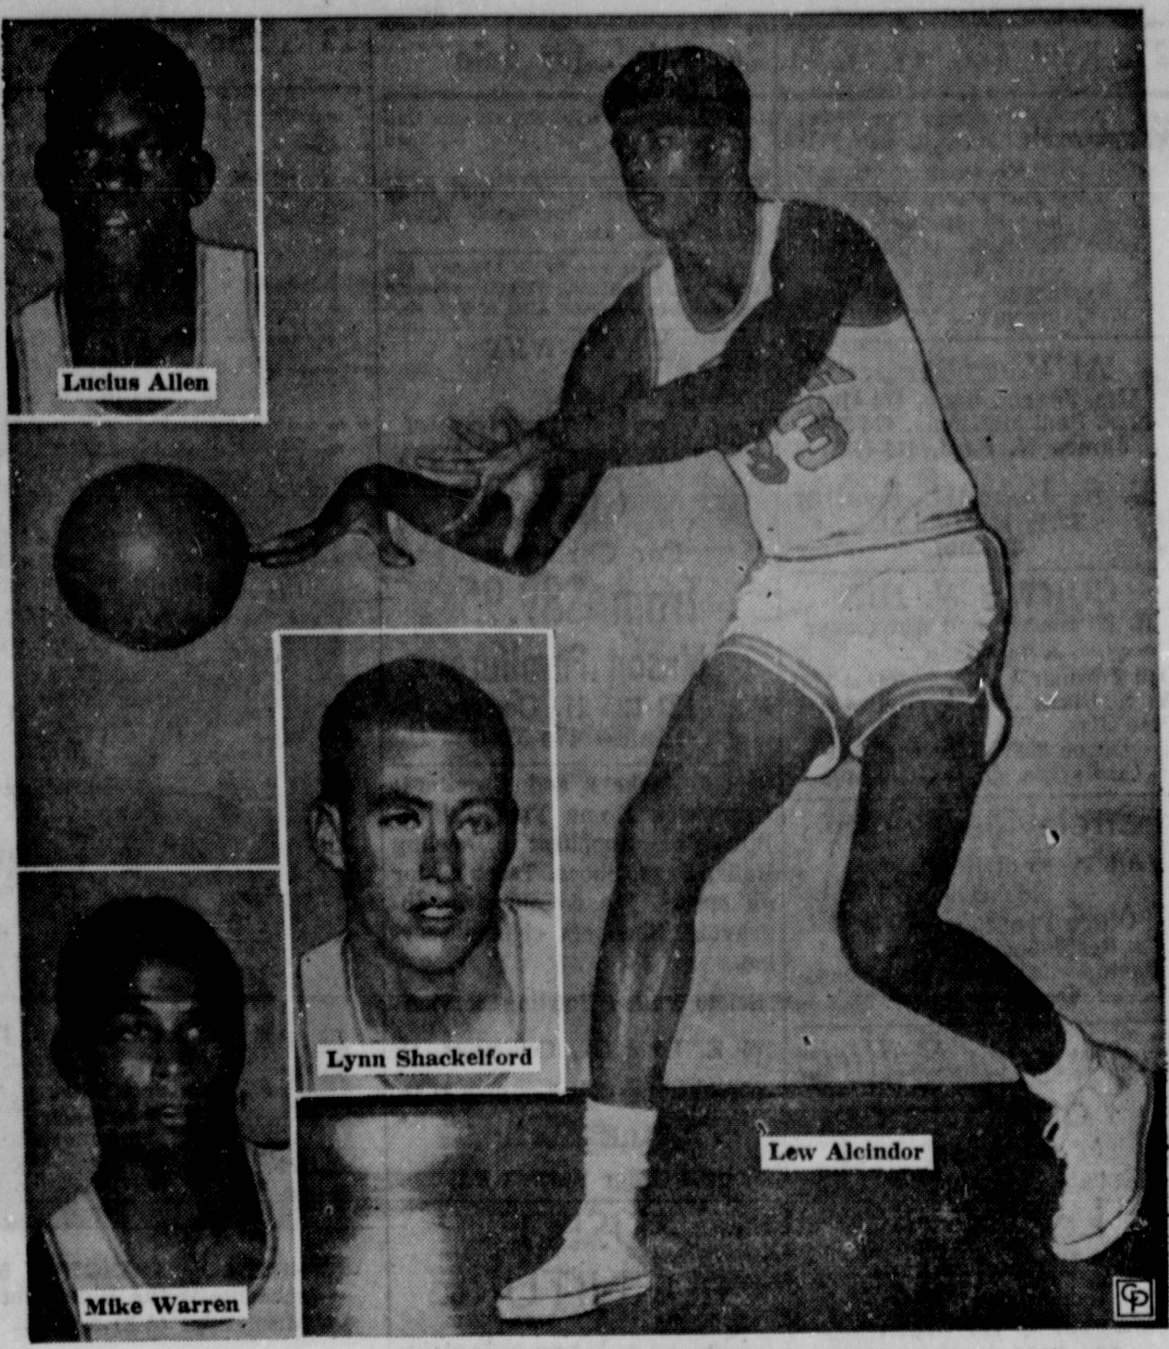

North Carolina, Brigham Young, Michigan State, Houston and Cincinnati complete the first ten in that order.

Michigan State, 4-0 including victories last week over South Dakota and Wichita State, is the only new team in the rankings. The Spartans replaced Duke, which has lost three of four games.

Houston, only member of the Top Ten to play Monday night, shrugged off four technical fouls and buried visiting St. Mary's, Calif., 90-74 for its fifth victory in six starts.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. UCLA (6)	360
2. Texas Western	316
3. Louisville	207
4. Kentucky	149
5. New Mexico	137
6. North Carolina	134
7. Brigham Young	125
8. Michigan St.	108
9. Houston	63
10. Cincinnati	57

THE NO. 1 PLAYER AND NO. 1 TEAM—That would be Lew Alcindor, the 7'1" soph star and the U.C.L.A. team for which he now plays. Alcindor, who led Power Memorial High in New York to 71 consecutive victories, broke the U.C.L.A. scoring mark in his first outing, getting 56 points. Teammates Lynn Shackelford and Mike Warren are juniors and Lucius Allen is a soph. The team is coached by Johnny Wooden, who now has posted 18 straight winning seasons at U.C.L.A. Wooden is a former Purdue star.

Casper Wants More Golf; Geiberger Would Like Less

Niagara Tops BeeGees on Free Throws

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Something had to give when Bowling Green and Niagara matched unbeaten records on the basketball court at Niagara Falls Monday night.

"Something" turned out to be the officials, in the estimation of Coach Porky Scholler of the Ohio team.

Scholler, watching the arbiters call 20 fouls on Bowling Green and just 11 on Niagara, felt they were giving his Falcons the business and giving the Purple Eagles the ball game.

Eventually, he disputed a referee's call and was assessed a technical foul for good measure.

The result, with Niagara sinking 18 of 25 free throws while Bowling Green got just 5 of 10, was Niagara 68, Bowling Green 57.

In other Ohio college play: Xavier matched BG's 4-1 record by creaming Tampa 87-39 in Cincinnati behind Bob Quick's 24 points.

Youngstown moved to 3-1 by turning back Texas Southern 8-75.

Baldwin-Wallace challenged Loyola of Chicago through much of the first half but finally became the undefeated Ramblers' fourth victim 105-89.

Wilberforce walloped Walsh 83-49.

Brown Vet Galen Fiss To Retire

CLEVELAND (AP)— Galen Fiss, veteran linebacker and captain of the Cleveland Browns the past four seasons, has decided to call it quits.

"Joining the Browns was the greatest thing that ever happened to me and my family," the former University of Kansas fullback said Monday.

Fiss was a regular in his rookie year (1956) after being drafted 11th in 1955.

He said he would retire Saturday if the Browns lose in St. Louis or Jan. 8 if the Browns make it to the National Football League playoff bowl in Miami.

"I could play 15 months of the year if there were that many," said Casper, the Mormon with the buffalo meat diet who beat Arnie Palmer in a playoff for the Open at San Francisco.

Geiberger, the banpole who nibbles on peanut butter sandwiches for nourishment around the course, said he thinks the tour is too long. He'd like two months, or more, of enforced rest.

"We started in January and we have just finished our last major tournament — the PGA team matches in Florida," he yjld. "That means it about three more weeks we'll be niting the road again."

Palmer, who teamed with Jack Nicklaus to win the $50,000 first prize last weekend at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., has argued for years for a streamlined tournament schedule of about 25 events. Now the $4-million program runs to around 40.

Nobody is making the golfers play in all the tournaments, or most of them, but it's necessary to keep pace in money winnings and Ryder Cup points, two important measures of success.

All the golfers are happy that prize money is continuing to escalate, with $200,000-plus tournaments moving the $100,000 classics into second class category.

"I don't know when the bonanza will end," Casper said. "As long as people want to see the golfers and promoters put up the money, the men will take their cuts."

Casper, Geiberger and Palmer were among the eight leading pros honored at a banquet here Monday night as Golf magazine's 1966 All-America team.

Scioto, Walnut Slated To Meet In Jr. High Tilt

Scioto and Walnut Twp. junior high school basketball teams are scheduled to clash Wednesday at 4 p. m. at Commercial Point.

Both teams are undefeated in the junior high league. With only one game remaining after tomorrow's round of action, the winner will be a heavy favorite to cop the league title.

In other action tomorrow, Salt Creek (14) hosts Pickaway (14) Washington (3-2) is at Monroe (0-5) and Jackson (1-4) travels to Ashville (4-1).

Saltcreek traveled to Stoutsville Monday to defeat the host school, 33-29.

The New York Knickerbockers began the 1966-67 basketball season with four rookies headed by All - America Cazzie Russell of Michigan.

High Court Gives Baseball Freedom To Switch Cities

By TOM SEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized baseball apparently has the freedom to move its teams from city to city without fear of violating antitrust laws.

The Supreme Court declined Monday to review a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling that organized baseball is immune to the state's antitrust law.

The state of Wisconsin fought to retain the National League Braves, who moved from Milwaukee to Atlanta last season.

Baseball has been immune from antitrust prosecution under federal laws for 44 years. The high court's action Monday assures it the same immunity from state antitrust laws.

By refusing to consider the Wisconsin case, the court left baseball free either to limit or expand the number of teams and to choose the cities that will have them.

The Braves' initial move — from Boston to Milwaukee in 1943 — touched off a wave of franchise shifting and expansion which has not stopped. The St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore, the New York Giants to San Francisco, the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles, the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City and the Washington Senators to Minnesota.

New franchises were granted in the American League to Los Angeles and Washington, and in the National League to Houston and New York. The Los Angeles Angels have since moved to Anaheim, Calif.

In Madison, Wis., however, state Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette said the state is considering asking the Supreme Court for a rehearing.

And in Milwaukee, Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., said he would reintroduce legislation to strip organized baseball of its federal antitrust exemption. His similar bill died in committee in the 89th Congress.

The high court has heard cases for the second time only on rare occasions.

In saying Wisconsin might task the Supreme Court for a second chance, La Follette noted that the state's plea had fallen only one vote short of the necessary back to win a review of the case.

At least four of the nine justices must agree to bring a case before the Supreme Court for argument.

Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr. said they would have heard the case. Justice Abe Fortas noted he took no part in the consideration or decision.

Wisconsin had asked the higher court to review and reverse the 4-3 decision of the State's Supreme Court which ruled July 27 that organized baseball was immune from Wisconsin's antitrust law.

Statistics Show Koufax Leading in 6 Categories

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Sandy Koufax left the game of baseball in style making his last season the best of his fabulous 12-year career.

The 30-year-old lefthander led the league in six categories, according to official National League statistics, and was tied for first in two others. He also set two major league records and one National League record.

Koufax finished the season with an earned run average of 1.73-leading the league for the fifth year in a row. Grover Cleveland Alexander, the National League ace of the 1920s, also led the circuit five times, but not in successive years.

Sandy set another major league season record by striking out 317 batters—the third time in a row he had passed the 300 mark. His 27-9 record represents the first time any National League lefthander has won that many games in one season.

Jim Bunning of Philadelphia and Koufax both started 41 games, but Sandy completed 27 of these to Bunnings' 16, and worked more innings (323) and pitched to more batters (1,274) than any other National League pitcher in 1966.

Bunning was second, facing 1,254 batters in 314 innings, and came in fourth in the ERA sweepstakes with a 2.41. The leader was Houston's Mike Cuellar, 2.22.

Sandlotter Dies

PARKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Joseph P. Sharp, Jr., 20, died Monday after suffering a brain concussion during a sandlot football game here.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won the 1941 pennant with 100 victories but the following year they won 104 games and finished second.

Tiger Wrestlers Nip Pleasant View In 23-21 Match

The Circleville Wrestling team copped a 23-21 verdict Monday over visiting Pleasant View to even its record at two wins and two losses for the season.

The outcome was decided in the final match. Circleville trailed, 21-20 in the scoring after the first 10 classes were completed.

Tom Fletcher, competing in the heavyweight class, gave up 28 pounds to his foe, Runyon. But he earned a 5-0 decision to win the match for the Tigers.

Fletcher weighed in at 188 pounds. His opponent tipped the scales at 216 pounds.

KENT CARPENTER, Tiger grappling coach, said Fletcher will be competing in the heavyweight division for the remainder of the year.

This is the week for the state weigh - ins. This means wrestlers cannot move down a class regardless of their weight.

Randy Martin battled Jerry Boggs to a 4-4 draw. Still undefeated, the Tiger 103-pounder has a 3-0-1 record for the season.

Mike Smith came out to pin Curt Mathias in the 112-pound class, but Steve Nelson was pinned by Rick Erby in the 102 - pound class to even the scoring at 7-7.

Circleville lost the next three matches and trailed, 19-7, in scoring.

Ron Miller then decided M. Good, 11-2. The only other undefeated grappler for the Tigers, he has a 3-0-1 record for the season.

JIM CAMPBELL pinned Trapp in the second period of his match and then Mark Ralston lost, 5-0, to Bruce Bostick.

Bcb Dean pulled the Circleville mat squad within one point when he pinned Jim Whitsell in the second period and all the Tigers needed for the victory was the decision by Fletcher.

"It was a real good test for us," Carpenter said, noting that Pleasant View had a good squad. "It went right down to the last match. I guess we just wanted it more than they did."

The next competition comes Saturday, beginning at noon, when Circleville hosts Lancaster, Walnut Ridge and Co.

Notre Dame's Jim Lynch Wins Maxwell Trophy

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)— All - America linebacker Jim Lynch has been selected winner of the Maxwell Trophy, symbolic of college football's outstanding player, Notre Dame announced Monday.

Lynch, captain of Notre Dame's 1966 national champion of college football's out-player to be so honored in the 30-year history of the Robert W. Maxwell memorial award.

Other Notre Dame recipients were Leon Hart in 1943 and halfback John Lattner in 1952 and 1953, the only double winner in history.

Lynch, a 6 foot 1, 215-pounder from Lima, Ohio, capped three years as regular linebacker this season by leading the team in tackles with 106. As defensive signal caller, he guided the first team defensive unit which shut out six opponents and yielded an average of 3.8 points a game as Notre Dme won his first national crown since 1949 with his first unbeaten season since 1953.

Jets, Giants Key To Eastern Title

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York's pro football buffs, who counted themselves out of the American and National league title races weeks ago, can count themselves back in this weekend.

Although the Jets are going nowhere and the Giants have been three for sometime, each club may hold the key to its league's Eastern Division championship maze.

The Jets, whose hopes for an unprecedented winning season evaporated at San Diego last Sunday, take on the Boston Patriots, pace-setters in the AFL's Eastern race, at Shea Stadium Saturday. The Pats need either a victory or tie to lock up the division crown.

The Giants, most scored upon club in NFL history, wind up their losingest season over Sunday when they entertain the explosive Dallas Cowboys at Yankee Stadium. The Cowboys can wrap up the Eastern Conference title before they take the field if Cleveland beats second-place St. Louis Saturday.

But a Cardinal victory would give the fallen Giants a shot at sidetracking Dallas' title express. The Cowboys then would have to either beat or tie New York to clinch their first division championship since they entered the NFL six years ago. The Cowboys, with the highest scoring offense in the league, rate three-touchdown favorites over New York, which has yielded a record 484 points in sliding to a 1-11 season mark. The Jets, 5-6-2, are six-point underdogs against the Patriots, 8-2, who have dropped only one of their last 10 starts.

The Patriots, who lead Buffalo's defending AFL champs by one-half game in the Eastern stretch race, expect Gino Cappelletti, the league's scoring leader, to be ready for full-time duty. Cappelletti nursed a bruised thigh through last Sunday's 18-14 victory at Houston.

Dallas, the NFL's Eastern crown within its grasp last Sunday, bowed at Washington 34-31. Quarterback Don Meredith, injured in the second period against the Redskins, should be ready to call signals against the Giants, who were drubbed by Pittsburgh 47-28 last Sunday.

Elsewhere Sunday, Green Bay's Western Division kings visit Los Angeles, Baltimore is at San Francisco, Minnesota at Chicago, Philadelphia at Washington and Pittsburgh at Atlanta in NFL play; Denver at Buffalo, Houston at Miami and Kansas City, the Western Division champion, at San Diego in the AFL.

Casper Wants More Golf; Geiberger Would Like Less

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the fictional Jack Spratt and his contrary spouse, the country's two pro golf champions have different tastes about the tour.

U.S. Open king Bill Casper wants more fat. Al Geiberger, the PGA titleholder, wants more lean.

Niagara Tops BeeGees on Free Throws

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Something had to give when Bowling Green and Niagara matched unbeaten records on the basketball court at Niagara Falls Monday night.

"Something" turned out to be the officials, in the estimation of Coach Porky Scholler of the Ohio team.

Scholler, watching the arbiters call 20 fouls on Bowling Green and just 11 on Niagara, felt they were giving his Falcons the business and giving the Purple Eagles the ball game.

Eventually, he disputed a referee's call and was assessed a technical foul for good measure.

The result, with Niagara sinking 18 of 25 free throws while Bowling Green got just 5 of 10, was Niagara 68, Bowling Green 57.

In other Ohio college play: Xavier matched BG's 4-1 record by creaming Tampa 87-39 in Cincinnati behind Bob Quick's 24 points.

Youngstown moved to 3-1 by turning back Texas Southern 8-75.

Baldwin-Wallace challenged Loyola of Chicago through much of the first half but finally became the undefeated Ramblers' fourth victim 105-89.

Wilberforce walloped Walsh 83-49.

Brown Vet Galen Fiss To Retire

CLEVELAND (AP)—Galen Fiss, veteran linebacker and captain of the Cleveland Browns the past four seasons, has decided to call it quits.

"Joining the Browns was the greatest thing that ever happened to me and my family," the former University of Kansas fullback said Monday.

Fiss was a regular in his rookie year (1956) after being drafted 11th in 1955.

He said he would retire Saturday if the Browns lose in St. Louis or Jan. 8 if the Browns make it to the National Football League playoff bowl in Miami.

"I could play 15 months of the year if there were that many," said Casper, the Mormon with the buffalo meat diet who beat Arnie Palmer in a playoff for the Open at San Francisco.

Geiberger, the banpole who nibbles on peanut butter sandwiches for nourishment around the course, said he thinks the tour is too long. He'd like two months, or more, of enforced rest.

"We started in January and we have just finished our last major tournament — the PGA team matches in Florida," he yld. "That means it about three more weeks we'll be nitting the road again."

Palmer, who teamed with Jack Nicklaus to win the $50,000 first prize last weekend at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., has argued for years for a streamlined tournament schedule of about 25 events. Now the $4-million program runs to around 40.

Nobody is making the golfers play in all the tournaments, or most of them, but it's necessary to keep pace in money winnings and Ryder Cup points, two important measures of success.

All the golfers are happy that prize money is continuing to escalate, with $200,000-plus tournaments moving the $100,000 classics into second class category.

"I don't know when the bonanza will end," Casper said. "As long as people want to see the golfers and promoters put up the money, the men will take their cuts."

Casper, Geiberger and Palmer were among the eight leading pros honored at a banquet here Monday night as Golf magazine's 1966 All-America team.

Torres Keeps Eyes on Clay

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Jose Torres doesn't defend his light heavyweight championship against Dick Tiger until Friday, but already Torres is talking about meeting Cassius Clay.

"I'm real serious about going after Clay," Torres said Monday here at his training headquarters for the Madison Square Garden fight.

"If I can knock out Tiger that will help me both for the Fight of the Year award and for a shot at Clay."

Bruins Given Unanimous Vote in Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is no threat this week to UCLA's standing as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press' major-college basketball poll because the powerful Bruins are not scheduled. Second-ranked Texas Western and fourth-rated Kentucky, though, seem to have difficult tasks ahead.

Texas Western meets fifth-ranked New Mexico Friday while Kentucky faces sixth-ranked North Carolina Tuesday. UCLA was a unanimous choice in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday. The Bruins were placed in the top position by all 6 selectors on the national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Bruins, 3-0, defeated Duke twice last week, 88-54 Friday and 107-87 Saturday. The No. 1 team does not play again until Dec. 22 when it takes on Colorado State.

Texas Western, 5-0, held second place after defeating East Texas, Pan American and Southern Methodist.

Louisville switched places with Kentucky, the Cardinals moving to third and the Wildcats slipping to fourth. Louisville beat Southwestern Louisiana and Southern Illinois while Kentucky lost to Illinois in overtime and came back to down Northwestern.

New Mexico, winner over Loyola of Los Angeles and Texas Tech, advanced one place to fifth.

North Carolina, Brigham Young, Michigan State, Houston and Cincinnati complete the first ten in that order.

Michigan State, 4-0 including victories last week over South Dakota and Wichita State, is the only new team in the rankings. The Spartans replaced Duke, which has lost three of four games.

Houston, only member of the Top Ten to play Monday night, shrugged off four technical fouls and buried visiting St. Mary's, Calif., 90-74 for its fifth victory in six starts.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. UCLA (6) 360
2. Texas Western 316
3. Louisville 207
4. Kentucky 149
5. New Mexico 137
6. North Carolina 134
7. Brigham Young 125
8. Michigan St. 108
9. Houston 63
10. Cincinnati 57

Scioto, Walnut Slated To Meet In Jr. High Tilt

Scioto and Walnut Twp. junior high school basketball teams are scheduled to clash Wednesday at 4 p. m. at Commercial Point.

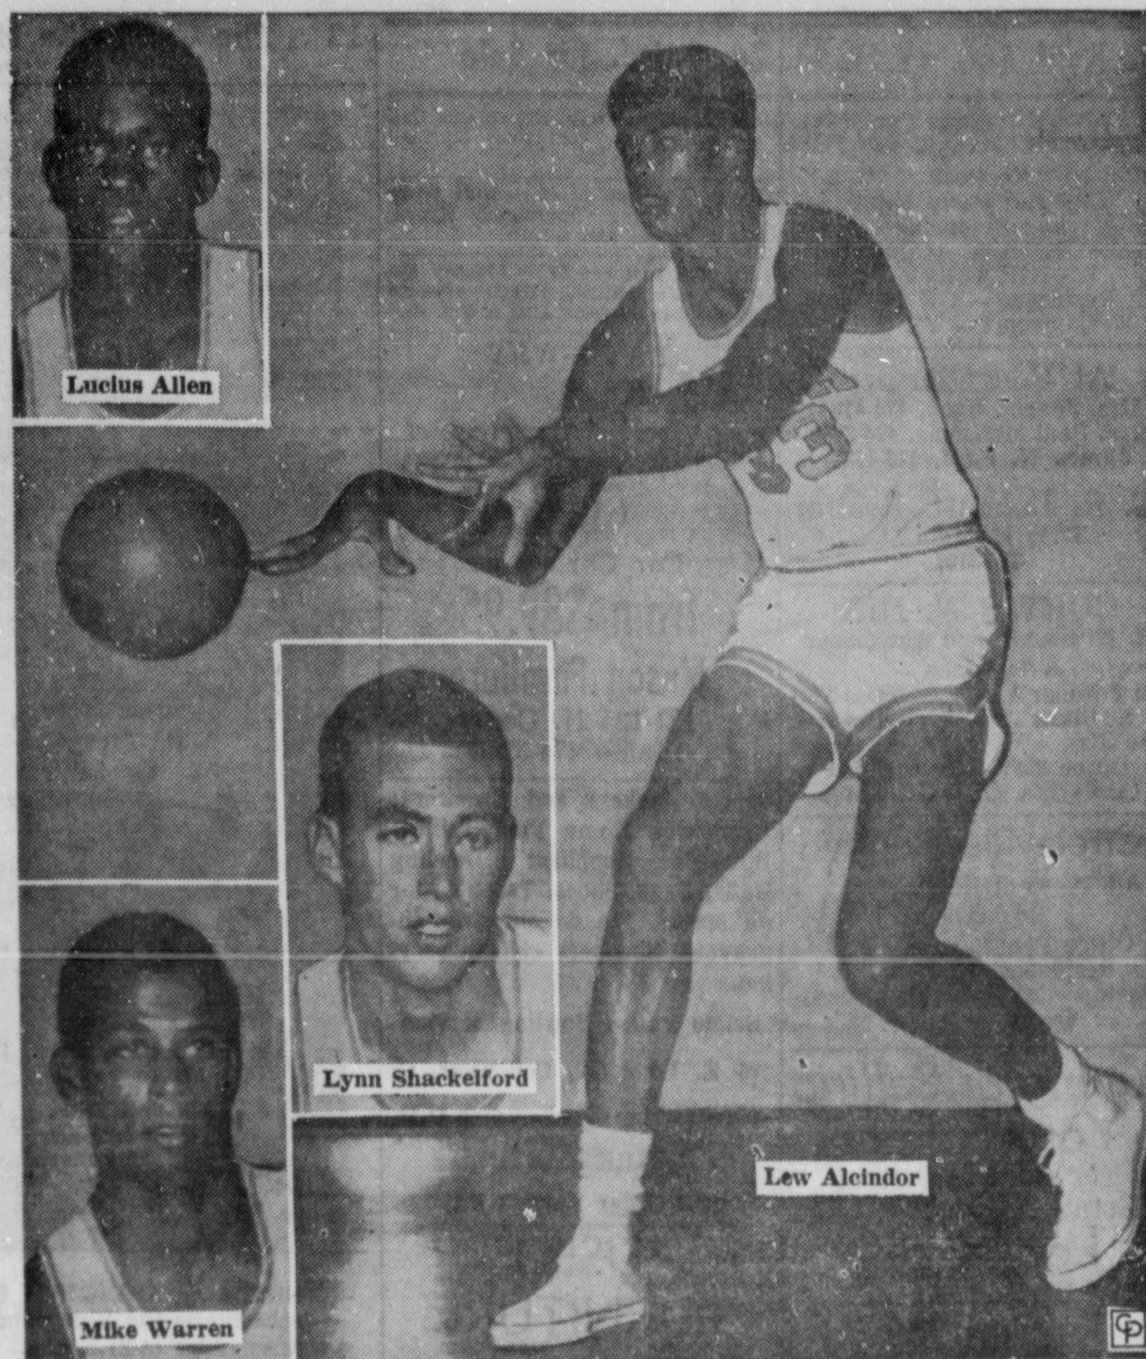

Both teams are undefeated in the junior high league. With only one game remaining after tomorrow's round of action, the winner will be a heavy favorite to cop the league title.

In other action tomorrow, Salt Creek (1-4) hosts Pickaway (1-4) Washington (3-2) is at Monroe (0-5) and Jackson (1-4) travels to Ashville (4-1).

Salt Creek traveled to Stoutsville Monday to defeat the host school, 33-29.

Wyoming Coach Stays
LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Football Coach Lloyd Eaton of the University of Wyoming has agreed to a new contract to remain at the Cowboy gridiron helm through January 1970, with automatic renewal upon mutual consent into 1973.

The New York Knickerbockers began the 1966-67 basketball season with four rookies headed by All - America Cazzie Russell of Michigan.

THE NO. 1 PLAYER AND NO. 1 TEAM—That would be Lew Alcindor, the 7'1½" soph star and the U.C.L.A. team for which he now plays. Alcindor, who led Power Memorial High in New York to 71 consecutive victories, broke the U.C.L.A. scoring mark in his first outing, getting 56 points. Teammates Lynn Shackelford and Mike Warren are juniors and Lucius Allen is a soph. The team is coached by Johnny Wooden, who now has posted 18 straight winning seasons at U.C.L.A. Wooden is a former Purdue star.

High Court Gives Baseball Freedom To Switch Cities

By TOM SEPPY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized baseball apparently has the freedom to move its teams from city to city without fear of violating antitrust laws.

The Supreme Court declined Monday to review a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling that organized baseball is immune to the state's antitrust law.

The state of Wisconsin fought to retain the National League Braves, who moved from Milwaukee to Atlanta last season. Baseball has been immune from antitrust prosecution under federal laws for 44 years. The high court's action Monday assures it the same immunity from state antitrust laws.

By refusing to consider the Wisconsin case, the court left baseball free either to limit or expand the number of teams and to choose the cities that will have them.

The Braves' initial move — from Boston to Milwaukee in 1943 — touched off a wave of franchise shifting and expansion which has not stopped. The St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore, the New York Giants to San Francisco, the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles, the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City and the Washington Senators to Minnesota.

New franchises were granted in the American League to Los Angeles and Washington, and in the National League to Houston and New York. The Los Angeles Angels have since moved to Anaheim, Calif.

In Madison, Wis., however, state Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette said the state is considering asking the Supreme Court for a rehearing.

And in Milwaukee, Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., said he would reintroduce legislation to strip organized baseball of its federal antitrust exemption. His similar bill died in committee in the 89th Congress.

The high court has heard cases for the second time only on rare occasions.

In saying Wisconsin might task the Supreme Court for a second chance, La Follette noted that the state's plea had fallen only one vote short of the necessary back to win a review of the case.

At least four of the nine justices must agree to bring a case before the Supreme Court for argument.

Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr. said they would have heard the case. Justice Abe Fortas noted he took no part in the consideration or decision.

Wisconsin had asked the higher court to review and reverse the 4-3 decision of the State's Supreme Court which ruled July 27 that organized baseball was immune from Wisconsin's anti-trust law.

Tiger Wrestlers Nip Pleasant View In 23-21 Match

The Circleville Wrestling team copped a 23-21 verdict Monday over visiting Pleasant View to even its record at two wins and two losses for the season.

The outcome was decided in the final match. Circleville trailed, 21-20 in the scoring after the first 10 classes were completed.

Tom Fletcher, competing in the heavyweight class, gave up 28 pounds to his foe, Runyon. But he earned a 5-0 decision to win the match for the Tigers.

Fletcher weighed in at 188 pounds. His opponent tipped the scales at 216 pounds.

KENT CARPENTER, Tiger grappling coach, said Fletcher will be competing in the heavy-weight division for the remainder of the year.

This is the week for the state weigh - ins. This means wrestlers cannot move down a class regardless of their weight.

Randy Martin battled Jerry Boggs to a 4-4 draw. Still undefeated, the Tiger 103-pounder has a 3-0-1 record for the season.

Mike Smith came out to pin Curt Mathias in the 112-pound class, but Steve Nelson was pinned by Rick Erby in the 102 - pound class to even the scoring at 7-7.

Circleville lost the next three matches and trailed, 19-7, in scoring.

Ron Miller then decided M. Good, 11-2. The only other undefeated grappler for the Tigers, he has a 3-0-1 record for the season.

JIM CAMPBELL pinned Trapp in the second period of his match and then Mark Ralston lost, 5-0, to Bruce Bostick.

Bcb Dean pulled the Circleville mat squad within one point when he pinned Jim Whitsell in the second period and all the Tigers needed for the victory was the decision by Fletcher.

"It was a real good test for us," Carpenter said, noting that Pleasant View had a good squad. "It went right down to the last match. I guess we just wanted it more than they did."

The next competition comes Saturday, beginning at noon, when Circleville hosts Lancaster, Walnut Ridge and Co-

AP All-Ohio Class A Football Team Picked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Class A champion Marion Catholic landed two players on the 1966 Associated Press All-Ohio football team as the small school scholastic stars won statewide recognition.

Denni Kapcar, Marion's stellar tackle, and Tim Grady, a fine quarterback who made the team as a linebacker, were the Irish players selected capping a brilliant season for Coach Max Ross' gridgers.

Portsmouth Notre Dame's versatile halfback, Terry Miller, was the only repeater from last year's squad. He made it as a defensive back in 1965 but was named to the offensive backfield this year.

District boards, composed of sports writers and sportscasters from throughout Ohio helped choose the club.

The fast, powerful backfield that accounted for 76 touchdowns includes Paul (Rocky) Alt of Crestline at quarterback and Roger Davidson of Kent State high and Bob White of South Central in the running spots along with Miller.

Alt, who edged out Mike Sensibough of Cincinnati Lockland tossed 14 touchdown passes while completing 106 of 199 aerials for 1,518 yards.

Davidson tallied 21 times and chalked up 1,373 yards while White scored 16 touchdowns and rushed for 1,242 yards.

Miller, injured in two games, blasted for 925 yards in his seven starts, an average of 11.3 yards each time he carried, and scored 16 points. The 185-pound senior already has offers from Notre Dame and Ohio State.

Outstanding linebacker Mike Von Stein of Cory - Rawson winning a spot on the second unit a year ago.

There was heavy competition for backfield honors and Jim O'Hara of Ottawa Hills, Ray Cox of Unioto and Ed Lynch of Millersport were among those who just missed making the first team.

Among the defensive standouts are back Harry Owen of Berlin Center Western Reserve; tackle Dick Shultz of United Local; back Jim Groff of Versailles and two-way performer Earl Willson of Piketon, another back.

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
NEW YORK (AP) — "To Tell the Truth," a pleasant guessing game that has been around CBS for a decade, ran head-on Monday night into a problem that plagues all shows featuring guests.

Contestants in the first segment of the show's first return to prime time, were a man who claims he was taken aboard a flying saucer and two impos-ters.

"Humph," sniffed a viewing companion who keeps an eye on daytime television. "The real one is on the end there. I saw him — and his wife — on Art Linkletter's show the other day."

Good guests with interesting stories to tell are likely to move among television game shows and radio talk shows the way Jane Morgan and Mickey Rooney travel the television variety show circuit.

Under normal circumstance, the guessing game is a mildly diverting half hour, but Monday night, in an effort to build in some extra star power, they changed the usual format.

Bette Davis, the guest star, and two women who could do pretty good imitations of her distinctive speaking voice were concealed behind an awkward arrangement of curtain that not only confused the panel but the living room spectators as well.

The game show now precedes "I've Got a Secret," another vintage panel show involving guessing. This one had excellent ratings when it was in an early evening spot but suffered a sharp drop from among the top 20 shows to close to the bottom of the list after it was moved to the end of the Monday night schedule.

Monday night's fun and games involved a 12-year-old girl who could type 37 words a minute, a 19-year-old girl who is a Kansas County treasurer and Victor Borge doing some electrical magic involving a bunch of pretty girls. None of the goings on seemed gripping enough to deter a viewer thinking of getting a good night's sleep.

Chamber Making Plans for Yule Decorating Event

Outstanding entries in the traditional Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Christmas Home Decorating contest will be selected again this year.

The program becoming more popular each year will be similar to the one conducted in 1965. Homes must be entered in the contest to be judged.

According to Chamber officials the deadline for entering is Dec. 23.

The Chamber will award a total of $100 to first and second place winners in four classes. Judging will be based on established rules and regulations.

Classes of competition are: 1. best over - all decoration; 2. best religious theme; 3. best decorated door doorway or lamp post; 4. best new or novel idea.

First prize in each class will amount to $15. Second prize in each will be $10. Homes will be judged in the category in which entered.

Chamber officials explained that decorations this year will be judged on five points. They are: 1. design; 2. color coordination; 3. effectiveness of lighting; 4. unity of theme; 5. originality.

The originality has been added this year for the first time. Judging will be conducted

White House Previews Yule Fest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Christmas at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue: the whiff of cedar, glow of tiny white bulbs, reflections of popcorn garlands in a mirror, a chandelier laced with holly, banquet tables crested with pine.

It's the White House ready for Christmas entertaining. Reporters were given a special preview Monday.

Decorations center around a fat 20-foot high balsam fir which towers to the ceiling of the Blue Room. Gingerbread cookies — some plastic, some real — candied fruit, toy soldiers and straw snowflakes hang from its boughs.

On every mantle, there is pine and holly, and gold, silver or blue or red bulbs. Doors sprout chains of cedar. Red and white roses and carnations fill spare tabletops.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson added at least three new touches to the traditional White House decorations: a 13-foot-high, gold-colored paper mache creche in the East Room, a mirror decorated with flat symbols of the 12-days of Christmas and a wreath made of flowers from 50 states.

This is the first floor of the executive mansion.

Upstairs, in the first family's living quarters, there are also decorations. The Johnsons plan to have a scotch pine decorated with popcorn and cranberry strings.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Skies cleared Monday night over the eastern half of Ohio but cloudiness clung to the western sector.

Early morning temperatures dropped to lower levels in the eastern counties with Youngstown reporting 19, Bellaire 21.

A developing low pressure area off the Carolina coast will move northward, bringing a chance of snow to the eastern counties tonight and Wednesday.

Continued cold weather is expected.

Pickaway NFO Represented at National Convention

Pickaway County was represented at the annual national convention of the National Farmers Organization last week at Milwaukee, Wis.

Attending the two-day convention from the Pickaway NFO County Chapter were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drummond, Derby; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conrad, New Holland; and Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mt. Sterling.

UCLA BEARDED ONES AT IT AGAIN—This was the wild melee in the Student Union Building at UCLA, Berkeley, as the bearded longhairs staged a demonstration against presence of three recruiters—two Navy and one Marine. Of nine persons arrested, only three were students.

Delegates to the convention authorized the NFO board of directors to immediately initiate steps to prepare for a milk holding action. Conrad has indicated that county NFO Dairy farmers will participate if a holding action is called.

The resolution adopted by the convention in part was worded: "To raise the general price level of raw milk and secure same by contract; which would necessitate marketing agency in common for the good and security of the dairy processing industry; to insure an ample supply of dairy products to the American consumer at reasonable prices. Be it further resolved that NFO urge all members to hold their production on the farm and non-members to join NFO and hold to achieve these goals".

The action climaxed an enthusiastic two-day session, termed by officials as the most productive and most successful in the history of the organization.

In commenting on the dairy holding action resolution, the NFO said "dairy farmers must decide whether they want to accept more of what they have had in the past or whether they want to unite their strength and establish a fair price for their commodities.

"The NFO has tried every means possible to avoid the use of a holding action in milk, but it is becoming more apparent that dairy buyers and processors are not going to pay dairy farmers an adequate price for dairy products unless producers demand the price and back up the demands with their production.

"Such a holding action must not be built on emotion," President Oren Lee Staley told the delegates. "It must be a simple business approach—farmers putting a price tag on their products. This holding action must be conducted in an atmosphere of calmness. This organization has never advocated or condoned violence," Staley said.

Minimum prices sought by the NFO included $6.05 per hundred weight for Grade A milk; and $5.00 per hundred weight for manufactured milk, with added transportation differentials to outlying areas.

The NFO claims that "we have won our battle of recognition from meat and grain processors and buyers", in noting the progress of educating farmers to use their bargaining power.

Growing strength of the organization was focused on the addition of three more members to the national NFO board of directors. One director was added for the state of Michigan and New Jersey and North Dakota secured directors for the first time.

Addressing the first evening session of the convention were Sen. William Proxmire, Dem., Wis., and Cong. Alvin O'Konski, Rep., Wis. Both told the convention that "the American consumer has been subsidized by the American farmer."

Staley, of Rea, Mo. and Erhard Pfingsten, Sergeant Bluff, Ia., both were re-elected president and vice-president respectively by enthusiastic acclamation.

In acceptance speeches, both stressed the very future of agriculture depends on the farmers' determination to use their bargaining power in pricing their products. "Collective bargaining means farmers bargaining together and selling together", they said.

Appearing on the Thursday morning program was Mrs. Rose West of Denver, Colo., originator of "Housewives for Lower Food Prices."

She told the convention that "we do not put the blame (for high food prices) on the farmers."

She offered the help of housewives all over the country. "The farmer is being gouged at one end and the consumer is being gouged at the other", she said.

Other speakers during the convention included: Senator Gaylord Nelson, Democrat, Wisconsin; Congressman Melvin Laird, Republican, Wisconsin; and Senator Walter Mondale, Democrat, Minnesota.
